ARMS PARLEY APPEARS BLOCKED

BYRD AND COMPANIONS NOT TO FLY BACK TO U. S.

Commander Will Sail Soon On Big Liner

Will Leave For United States About Middle Of Next Week

MAKE ANNOUNCEMENT DURING AFTERNOON

Plans To Be Completed For Flight To South Pole In Fall

By HARRY R. FLORY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, July 5.—Commander Richard E. Byrd and his co-fliers, Bert Acosta, George O. Noville and Bert Balchen, are planning to sail for the United States on one of the big liners the middle of next week.

This announcement was made this afternoon after Byrd, Acosta and Balchen had returned to Paris after spending the forenoon with the French fliers at Le Bourget flying field. While at the field they paused at the tablet in Civil field to commemorate the landing of Charles A. Lindbergh. Byrd and his companions were the honored guests of the 34th aviation regiment.

Noville and Balchen said they planned to fly to Amsterdam tomorrow as passengers in a regular commercial plane to complete plans of the Fokker Company for the building of a plane for Byrd's projected South Pole expedition.

Byrd Affected By Demonstration Of French People

Commander Tells Any Doubting Ones To Try Non-Stop Flight To Paris

By HARRY R. FLORY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, July 5.—"Any Americans who may doubt France's affection for the United States need only make a non-stop flight from New York to France.

This was the statement of Commander Richard E. Byrd of the America in replying today to a speech of welcome by Colonel Polimachetti at a reception given in honor of the American aviators by the thirty-fourth aviation regiment of France at Le Bourget flying field.

Byrd, the pilot, of his plane, Bert Acosta, and the relief pilot, Bernt Balchen were guests of honor. G. O. Noville, the other member of the crew remained at his quarters in the Continental hotel. Also among those present was Clarence Chamberlin, famous New York to Germany flyer.

Roger's Birthday Unkind Date To Many Aspiring

(Special To The News)

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif, July 5. — Well Monday was the Fourth of July and my kids popping these giant crackers weren't any great patriot solace to my old battle scarred tummy. Monday was Coolidges and Georgie Cohans birthday. Georgie, writes his country's songs and Calvin writes its speeches. Georgie started out waving a flag and Cal the ballot shows you which one will get you the farthest.

I was born on Nov. 4 which is election day and if it hadn't been for election day there would have been no Coolidge in the Black Hills.

My birthday has made more men and sent more back to honest work than any other days in the year. At that I wish both of them well, they are both good kids even if they do both talk with a whine.

Yours. WILL ROGERS.

Woman Judge Striking At "Double Standard"

JUDGE TIERA FARROW.

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 5.—The "man of the street" had better be on his way in this city.

For the feminist era has descended upon this municipality's court and stern justice is being meted out by Miss Tiera Farrow, a young woman attorney who is radical enough in ideas on the double standard to discharge women who are picked up on vagrancy charges.

She recently was chosen to sit on the North municipal court bench by Henry F. McElroy, city manager.

Miss Farrow has been practicing law in this city for several years and at one time aspired to be representative in congress, but did not get enough votes.

"Bring in the men of the streets," she tells policemen after discharging the women who appear before her for immorality.

"I think the men who are responsible for the activities of these women are more guilty than are these defendants. If such men offenders were brought before me I can guarantee that they will not be discharged.

"You are strong, healthy girls and would be much happier and better off if you found honest work."

In dismissing the women Judge Farrow said she believed most, if not all of them, were guilty, but that she considered it an injustice to fine them when the men, responsible for their habits, were permitted to go unmolested by police.

Henry Ford Discusses Trend Of Business And Future Conditions

Richest Man In America Sees Great Industrial Development In Future

Giant Business Corporations And Universal Five-Day Week Are Forecast

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

DETROIT, July 5—Tremendous advances in the mechanical end of American industry gradually will revolutionize the business world, with the creation of giant business corporations and the universal adoption of the five-day week as outstanding changes.

This is Henry Ford's view of America's industrial future.

It was given International News Service today in an exclusive interview.

Confirmed Optimist.

Army Fliers Will Leave Honolulu For Home On Wednesday

Intrepid Army Fliers First To Span Coast To Hawaii, Plan For Trip Home

(International News Service)

HONOLULU, July 5.—Lieuts. Lester Maitland and Albert Hegenberger, will take their last spin today in the big lumbering Fokker which carried them from the Pacific coast to the Hawaiian Islands. The army pilots planned to take a two-hour flight over Honolulu today alternating for the last time at the controls of the great monoplane whose power and peculiarities they know and love.

The Fokker will remain in Hawaii for inter-island flying. Maitland and Hegenberger sail for Oakland tomorrow.

The army flyers, had hoped to fly it back to California, but the war department ordered otherwise.

STRAY BULLET KILLS CHILD

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 5.—One boy is dead here today and three others are suffering from injuries sustained in July 4th shootings.

The dead child, Isreal Tessler, 7, was playing in the rear yard of his home when he was struck by a stray bullet.

Leonard Prybulok, 5, and Leonard Grace, 12, were wounded by stray bullets while playing in the back yards of their homes. James O'Neill, 11, another celebrant was burned about the left hand while discharging a small revolver.

A number of other July 4th celebrants received minor injuries.

Six Persons Hurt In Auto Crashes

Three-Year-Old Girl Is Worst Injured In Fourth Traffic Accident

ACCIDENT OCCURS AT GARDNER VIADUCT

Three Cars In Mixup On Youngstown Road On Sunday Morning

Six persons taken to hospitals, one seriously injured, besides several others suffering minor injuries and numerous minor automobile accidents was the traffic toll over the Fourth of July season in this city and vicinity.

Lorraine Marcella, aged about three years, 1801 South Jefferson street, is the more seriously injured of the several victims. It is feared that she may not recover from the effects of her injury, broken glass which entered her temple in the crash on Mahoning avenue at the Gardner avenue viaduct shortly before 7 o'clock last night, having entered her brain, creating a condition that is hard to overcome. She is in the New Castle hospital.

Sam Love 315 North Lafayette street, driver of the car that wrecked the machine in which the little girl was riding with her parents, has been charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor before Alderman William E. Marshall by Chief of Police Henry Dysart and is out under $1,000 bail pending the outcome of the injuries of the child.

According to the report at the police station, C. H. Marcellia, 1801 South Jefferson street, was driving his machine east on Mahoning avenue near 312 that street. Love was driving a truck of Wadding and Foley, west on Mahoning avenue.

Cars Collide

Marcella noticed that the truck was being driven in a wobbly manner and was coming over into his line of traffic. In the hope of avoiding an accident he made a left hand turn to the south street car track. Had the truck, according to Mr. Marcella continued in the course in which it was going, there would have been no collision. However, Love turned suddenly to the right and the machines crashed, both being badly wrecked.

The right light of the Marcella sedan struck the center of the truck in the mixup. The police were notified and Officers Moore and Young and Fireman George Harper responded.

The indications were that Love was under the influence of liquor and he was brought to the police station. A quart of wine was found in his machine when searched by the officers. At the office, the examining physician found that Love was under the influence of liquor.

Marcella, his wife, his mother-in-law, three children and Louis Respole, 1808 South Jefferson street, were in the car at the time of the accident.

The mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Panella, the wife, Mrs. Pearl Marcella, Louis Respole and little Lorraine Marcella were severely injured. They were rushed to the Shenango Valley hospital, where they were given first

W. Harry Baker Leader In State Dies In Hospital

Tonsil Operation Proves Fatal To Widely Known State Politician

WIDOW IS NEAR COLLAPSE, REPORT

Extended Illness Follows Operation; Transfusion Efforts Fail

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 5.—W. Harry Baker, secretary of the state senate and Republican state committee, died in Polyclinic hospital here today after an extended illness which followed an operation for the removal of his tonsils.

Mrs. Baker and his two sons, Morley, 22, and W. Harry, Jr., 19, were with him at the end.

Baker, who was 52 years old, underwent an operation for the removal of diseased tonsils some time ago, and for a time was thought to be well on the road to recovery. He was sent to Polyclinic hospital for a rest after the operation, and there it was found that poisons from the diseased tonsils had permeated his entire system.

Try Blood Transfusion.

After a consultation of physicians it was decided to perform a blood transfusion, and scores of the politicians friends volunteered their blood. Finally one was found whose blood was of the type needed for the operation, and it was performed. Reports

Shower Honors On Commander Byrd

Flier And Companions Are Being Honored By French People

FLIERS MAKING PLANS TO RETURN

By HARRY FLORY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, July 5.—Honors are being showered upon Commander Richard E. Byrd and his three flying companions who flew from New York to France but missed their landing place owing to fog and storm.

The American aviators were guests of honor at a banquet given last night by the United States Chamber of Commerce, during which they heard innumerable laudatory speeches praising their trans-oceanic flight.

On Thursday the muncipality of Paris will confer upon the aviators the same special medal which was granted to Colonel Charles Lindbergh.

On Saturday the Americans will leave Paris for Le Torquet, water place, where they will attempt to get a little rest from the arduous attentions which have been paid to them since they landed. It is anticipated that the Americans will sail for home on a steamship some time next week.

The Americans are being deluged with invitations to attend dinners, banquets and other formal affairs, but they are declining practically all of them.

"I and my companions appreciate the honors that are being conferred upon us, but it must be understood that this flight was undertaken solely for scientific reasons," said Byrd. "We have done what we could for flying under difficulties and we hope that it will be worth something for the men who come after us."

Two Women In Hospital As Result Of Bullet Wounds In Accidents

One Woman Is Struck By Bullet As Gun Drops From Coat And Explodes

Second Woman Is Injured When "Blank" Proves To Be Bullet

Two persons, both women, were Fourth of July celebration victims, both being shot and one being in a critical condition in the Shenango Valley hospital. No other serious celebration accidents were reported.

Mrs. Carrie Faustino, aged 13, of 7707 Dennison avenue, Cleveland, O., in a critical condition at the Shenango Valley hospital as a result of a wound in the right side, vital organs being punctured by the bullet was the victim of a peculiar accident.

Mrs. Faustino and others were spending the Fourth at the home of Frank Schraldi of near Edenburg and was shot while in the act of preparing to return home. The shooting occurred about 5 o'clock last evening.

Revolver Discharged.

Members of the party had a revolver. It was in the pocket of a coat. The coat had been laid on top of the fender over the right front wheel of the car in which they had made the trip from Cleveland.

Mrs. Faustino had opened the rear door of the automobile was in the act of stepping into the automobile when the accident occurred. Apparently the jar caused by her stepping on the running board knocked the coat to the ground.

When it struck the ground one bullet was fired from the revolver in the coat. It struck her in the right side and penetrated vital organs.

Mrs. Faustino was taken to the Shenango Valley hospital where X-ray pictures were taken to locate the bullet, which was finally located with some difficulty. Her condition is such that at the present time it is impossible to determine whether or not she will recover.

"Blank" is Bullet.

Officers Hillers and Lynch and Howard Phillips answered a call to 262 West Falls street Monday morning about 9:30 o'clock. It was to the effect that a woman had been shot at that place.

On their arrival there they found that Laura Pinkard, negress, had been shot through the right arm. Robert Reeves, negro, had pointed what purported to be a revolver loaded with a blank cartridge at her and

Find Coast Girl Clubbed To Death, Five Boys Held

Believe Woman Or Man With Soft Dainty Hands Killed Flapper On Coast

(International News Service)

OAKLAND, Cal., July 5.—A woman or man with soft, dainty hands clubbed pretty 15-year old Mabel Mayer to death, police believed today following discovery of feminine fingerprints upon the green purse of the slain girl.

The battered body of the young music student was found by carpenters in a vacant lot. She had been beaten and gouged to death with pieces of scantling found nearby.

Five San Leandro boys, overheard discussing the murder, will be grilled by detectives today.

Police believe a jealous woman may have killed the dainty little flapper, who was said to be proud of men's interest in her.

Toll Of Twenty Lives In State Over Fourth

(International News Service)

Death stalked the trial of the thousands of holiday celebrators in Pennsylvania and took a toll of at least twenty lives and more than 150 were injured, a survey by International News Service showed today.

Fireworks and automobile accidents were responsible for the heavy toll. There were few drownings because of unseasonable weather which kept many from the swimming pools and rivers.

Five were killed in automobile accidents and three were drowned in Pittsburgh, which also reported 34 injured. Philadelphia reported four fatalities and many injured.

Fifty-eight were hurt by fireworks and three by automobiles near Lancaster, while Harrisburg accounted for thirty-three casualties, one which may result fatally, due to fireworks. The state capitol reported one critically injured in auto races and five hurt in auto accidents.

Wilkes-Barre contributed 15 to the fireworks casualty list and two were hurt in auto crashes there. Lewistown advices stated that three were hurt by autos.

Woman's Foot Getting Larger

(International News Service)

BOSTON, July 5.—The average woman's foot, pride of the fair sex for centuries, is growing at the rate of one size a generation, according to A. H. Gueting, of Philadelphia, president of the National Shoe Retailer's Association

In the last two generations the average size of women's shoes has increased two sizes. Forty years ago when customers who wore shoes larger than size 5½, whispered it to the clerk, Gueting said. But now, he says, the average girl of 14 requires a size 7.

The increase in size is a healthy sign even though it jars the pride of the women, Gueting declared.

Deadlock In Naval Parley Is In Prospect

Naval Experts' Committee Adjourns Indefinitely After Failing To Agree

DELEGATIONS SEEK TO FIND NEW BASIS

United States And Great Britain Fail To Agree On Cruisers

(International News Service)

GENEVA, July 5.—A state of complete deadlock at the tri-partite naval arms limitation conference here was reached today when the naval experts' committee adjourned indefinitely its labors "to permit the various delegations to seek a means of adjusting the cruiser needs of the different powers.

The deadlock resulted from inability of the United States to agree to Great Britain's demand for 78 cruisers totaling about 600,000 tons. It was understood here today that the United States delegation had received instructions from Washington that unless an agreement on cruiser strength could be reached practically on the basis of a proposal put forward by an American delegate, allowing 400,000 tons of cruiser strength each for Great Britain and the United States, that it would be better to allow the cruiser question to rest in abeyance until 1931.

The naval limitations treaties signed at the Washington conference, which have to do with capital ships, expire in 1931 unless renewed.

America Offers Compromise

The American proposition represented a compromise between the United States' first proposal of 250,000 to 300,000 cruiser tonnage each for Great Britain and the United States, and the British demand for nearly 600,000 tons. This American compromise proposition was resented at the experts' committee meeting and almost immediately the work of the committee was adjourned without a set date for another meeting.

This action left the arms conference without a committee meeting scheduled, with the members of the various delegations conferring independently within their own ranks.

Following the adjournment the experts' committee issued a communique saying the adjournment was taken with "a view to permitting the various delegations to seek a means of adjusting the cruiser needs of the different powers".

The communique also declared an agreement had been reached respecting submarines, but later it was authoritatively learned that the agreement was only to limit submarine torpedo tubes to 21 inches size, and that no agreement had been reached on the tonnage or number of submarines to be allowed the various powers.

President Coolidge Will Attend Rodeo

Real Western Exhibition To Be Attended During Afternoon By President

Special Train To Convey Coolidge Party To Scene Of Round-Up

By GEORGE F. DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

RAPID CITY, S. D., July 5.—Calvin Coolidge, from way down east, prepared today to leave here at about noon for Bellefourche, S. D., where he will take a little of the most spirited entertainment they furnish way out west.

The tri-state round-up, which annually lures in all the finest riders of the surrounding ranges to compete for fame and good hard cash, was the attraction which is taking the executive away from his summer White House for the day. It will be Mr. Coolidge's first honest-to-goodness western rodeo and judging from the program he's going to witness plenty of action.

Start Razing Of Bank Building

Quarters Of First National Bank Are Moved Over Holiday Period

NEW BUILDING WILL BE ERECTED

With its new quarters at 107 East Washington street, just east of its former location, all ready for business, and its money chests, safe deposit boxes and all valuables and equipment moved to the big new vault of the Union Trust company, the First National Bank of Lawrence County today opened for business in the new quarters, without the least interference or inconvenience for its patrons.

At the same time, the actual demolition of the former banking house, corner of Washington and North Mercer street, to make way for the handsome, modern, fireproof banking house and business block that is to replace it is well under way, the contractors, the Boldt Construction company of Cleveland, O. having a large force of men engaged in tearing out the interior of the old banking house. The entire building is to be wrecked.

The money chests, safe deposit boxes and equipment of the old First National bank bankingroom were removed Friday evening after the close of business. Business was conducted in the old bankingroom of the National Bank of Lawrence County on Saturday and on Saturday evening, the removal of money chests, safety deposit boxes and equipment of this part of the old banking house was removed.

Working double shifts, the transfer of the equipment from the old banking house to the new location and the big vault of the Union Trust company, was rushed to completion Saturday evening beginning at 8:15 o'clock. The work was continued over Sunday and for a part of Monday, when the big task was completed.

The First National bank of Lawrence County is now doing business as usual in its new temporary location. The first floor is devoted to banking purposes and the second floor for the bookkeeping department.

Nick Discovers Jar Of Liquor

Officer Nick Faella found a surprise package in Market way Monday when some boys told him of a basket that was setting in the rear of some of the Washington street stores. He found a common variety half bushel basket, which when newspapers over the top of it were removed revealed a gallon and half-gallon glass jar filled with moonshine. He brought it to the police station, where it still awaits the owner.

immediately after the transfusion were that Baker was well on the road to recovery, the operation having been pronounced a success.

Over the holiday week-end, however, Baker's condition grew worse, and death came today.

Word from the hospital shortly after his death was that Mrs. Baker, who was at the bedside, was taken to her home by Baker's special nurse, the widow being in a state of near collapse.

Devoted To Politics.

Baker spent practically his entire life in politics. Starting as a page boy in the senate he served in that body in a number of capacities, finally as secretary. He has held that job continuously for many years.

Under the Boise Penrose leadership Baker was considered the "right hand man" of the famed politician, and was entrusted with a great deal of Penrose's important missions.

Penrose was responsible for Baker's election as state chairman of the Republican party, a position he held until last year.

Baker's removal as state chairman followed his espousal of the candidacy of E. E. Beidleman for governor. Baker and Beidleman had been friends since boyhood and despite the Mellon leadership he supported the former lieutenant governor for chief executive of Pennsylvania.

Following Beidleman's defeat Baker was removed as state Republican chairman, W. L. Mellon being elected in his place. Baker remained in the fold as secretary of the state committee.

aid treatment, then returning to their homes. Later it devoloped that the little girl was serious and she was removed to the New Castle hospital. The injuries of the older people consisted largely of lacerations and bruises of a more or less serious character. Mr. Marcella was injured slightly on the leg.

Love was severely cut. Several stitches had to be taken in his forehead, and his left hand was badly cut. One of his knees was also injured. He claimed this morning that he had been working for twenty-five hours and that he was really asleep when the accident occurred and that he did not realize anything until the cars were almost together and it was too late.

Three Cars In Mixup

Sunday morning about 10 o'clock on the Youngstown road, near Harbor Bridge, three cars were in a mixup. All were somewhat damaged and several persons were injured.

Mrs. Mary Gransky, aged 28 of Edenburg and Mrs. Rosie McGloskey, aged 53 of the same place, were the more severely injured persons in the mixup. They were removed to the Shenango Valley hospital in the White ambulance. The former sustained a broken right arm and lacerations. Their condition is not considered serious.

Accidents Cause Scores Of Deaths

Midwest Reports Large Number Of Accidents As Result Of Celebrations

CHICAGO, July 5.—Scores were dead and hundreds injured in the midwest today as the result of fireworks, automobile, airplane and other accidents July 4.

In Chicago automobiles killed seven, one child was burned to death and 60 seriously injured by fireworks.

Three persons were drowned in Minnesota and four were fatal victims of automobile crashes.

Nine deaths, four of children, was the toll in California.

Forty-three lives were lost in Indiana in automobile accidents, airplane crashes, fireworks explosions and drownings.

Ethel Doane, 21, a parachute jumper, fell to her death at Indianapolis before thousands of spectators in an amusement park. The girl jumped into a tree when her parachute failed to open.

Poultry Expert To Be Here Thursday

H. H. Kauffman, poultry specialist of State College, will be in Lawrence county Thursday, July 7, to assist County Agent McCulloch with some poultry work. The day will be spent at the farm of Norman Allen, Pulaski township, where caponizing will be done for the members of the Boys and Girls Capon Club of that community.

At 6:30 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, a poultry culling demonstration will be held on the farm of J. A. Dawson, near Mt. Air. Anyone interested in these two demonstrations are invited to attend.

Six Requests Are Made For Tetanus Anti-Toxin

Six calls for tetanus and anti toxin were made over the Fourth period at the drug store of McKinley and Frantz, the local station for free distribution of anti-toxin for tenanus or lock jaw.

Mr. Frantz of the firm said this was about the usual number of calls as they have had in other years. That in general very few calls are had in comparison to the population of the city and thus it indicates that all are endeavoring to make the Fourth "safe and sane."

The Pennsylvania Department of Health furnishes free anti-toxin for tetanus and diphtheria in order to relieve the victims of these terrible diseases.

No calls were made at the local distributing station for the tetanus anti-toxin during Sunday, but one was made on Saturdaly and five on the Fourth.

HENRY FORD DISCUSSES TREND OF BUSINESS FUTURE CONDITIONS

science and the arts. Its possibilities are unlimited, he says, if American business men will lead the way.

The auto king was interviewed in his office at Dearborn in the midst of a 10,000-acre tract of factories. He wore a modest gray business sack suit and looked anything but the greatest industrial genius of this or any other age. He spoke in soft tones.

Throughout the interview, Ford stressed the necessity for business men and workers doing their full duty to the best of their ability.

His creed for all business—and it will apply as well to every human activity—was summed up thus: "The best slogan for a successful business is: Do the ordinary thing extraordinary well."

Mechanical Age.

The world is living in a mechanical age, in which man's conquest of the air is just getting under way, Ford said, and the mechanical wonders have only begun.

"There are many changes coming in our system of business and they are all for the better," said Ford. "I consider the United States as an extract of all the world, and as a result, we have more pioneer spirit than any other country. There is lots of work waiting to be done if the leaders will find ways of doing it. And they will, for this is a nation that succeeds."

Business conditions are going thru a change at the present moment, Ford said, in commenting on the present state of prosperity.

"We are having a little breathing spell," was his comment.

"Will the Mississippi flood damages have any effect on the nation's prosperity next winter?" he was asked.

"No effect at all," the auto king replied. "Only a small part of the commercial south was affected by the floods. The great gain is that the country is at last awake to the job of flood control.'"

Business of Future.

The interview turned on the subject of business conditions in the future.

"Are great consolidations of business enterprises the future of American business?"

"Yes," said Ford, "business will group into large and larger companies. It means more minds to run the business and run it well."

"From your own experience, are these corporations easy to handle?"

"Yes, easier to handle than the small ones," Ford declared. He then explained his answer by adding: "The fellow at the peanut stand has more trouble than the man running a big industry. The peanut vendor is under pressure every moment. He has all the responsibilities. He has to do everything himself. The result is his tasks are only half done.

This subject of giant corporations struck a spark in the man who heads the world's greatest corporation. His own companies had cash resources a few months ago totaling about $550,000,000.

"Twenty-five years ago," Ford continued, "you could take one idea and carry it along very well by yourself. Now the people are better posted generally and the competition is greater. We have more and better minds in industry. The individual expects to do the extraordinary thing, if he is to be successful, while in large corporations, the purpose is to do the ordinary thing extraordinarily well."

Five-Day Week.

The talk drifted to labor conditions.

"Is the five-day week a success in your business?" he was asked.

"Certainly," Ford retorted, "and it's here to stay."

"Will it spread eventually to industry generally?"

"Oh yes," the auto king predicted. "That is one of the changes coming."

Ford, while sometimes reported as a foe of organized labor, declared he had no antipathy for organizations of working men.

"Do you believe men have a right to organize?" he was asked.

"It depends entirely on what they organize for," said Ford. "I don't care how much they organize if they don't interfere with business."

The five-day week policy, inaugurated in the Ford plants a year ago, caught the auto king's mind again.

"I'm sure the five-day week will be a success everywhere," he said. "It is coming generally with the expansion machinery. It will give the people more chance to use up what they produce. If they spend all their time making things, they have time only to work, eat and sleep and have no time to use the mechanical productions. The five-day week means more time for play and pleasure and the use of mechanical products.

"It will be a boom to business by creating a demand for more products."

(Another interview will follow Wednesday.)

Train Hits Auto, Five In Family Dead As Result

Father, Mother, Two Daughters And Son Dies In Tragic Accident

(International News Service)

MONONGAHELA, Pa., July 5.—Three small children struggled for their lives today in the Memorial hospital here as the result of an automobile crash that nearly wiped out their whole family.

The children, Norman, 2, Mercy, 10, and Dorothy, 12, were the only survivors of the family of Charles Little, 55, after his automobile stalled on the tracks in front of a northbound Fairmont express train yesterday. The group was returning from a holiday outing.

Little, his wife Alberta, 50, and two daughters, Margaret, 8, and Mary, 12, were killed almost instantly.

A son, Charles, 4, died in the hospital here today.

Witnesses to the accident said the car had started across the tracks, when the father, seeing the approaching express, attempted to hurry. He apparently "stepped" on the gas. The motor evidently became flooded, and stalled.

The car was demolished. Wreckage was strewn along the right of way several hundred feet. That all did not meet instant death was considered miraculous.

DINNER STORIES

A Long Search

The kind lady noticed an old man, whose right leg was gone, standing on a street corner with a perplexed look on his face.

"My poor man," she said, " are you lost?"

"No ma'am," he replied. "I'm looking fer a feller that got his left leg shot off in the Battle of Bull Run."

"What is his name?"

"I don't know that," was the reply, "but he wears a number ten shoe?"

"For heaven's sake, if you don't know who he is, how do you know he wears a number ten shoe?"

"I ain't sure he does, but it stands t' reason thet if he don't one or t'other of us is goin' to have trouble with his bunions. Lady, I'm looking for a right-legged feller t' go partners with on a new pair of shoes."

Good Reason

An admiring group had surrounded small Jimmy. He had rescued a pal who had broken through the ice and would have drowned otherwise.

"That was real bravery, my little man," a motherly woman was telling him, patting him on the back.

"Aw, shucks," sniffed Jimmy. "Bravery nothin'; he had my skates on.'

Traffic Records On State Roads Are Established

Hundreds Of Thousands Of Motorists Utilize State Roads Over Fourth

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 5.—All established records for traffic on the state's highways were shattered by the holiday crowds of motorists this week-end and Independence Day, veterans in the state highway department estimated today.

Hundreds of thousands of motorists swarmed over the rustic trails and river routes, while down through the Cumberland Valley, Wyoming Valley and Western Pennsylvania river routes an unprecedented number of automobiles poured in steady streams.

So great was the demand for additional state officers to guard the highways, state police headquarters here reported, that many of the mounted police were ordered to leave their horses and make use of the reserve supply of motorcycles.

The only serious difficulty encountered by traffic experts was near baseball parks and race tracks, and on the whole there was remarkable order in the way in which Pennsylvania's motorists took to the state's highways for their holiday outings, officials said.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE WILL ATTEND RODEO

to test the skill and dexterity of the best known cowboys and cowgirls in the west. Such rodeo celebrities as "Tad" Lucas, 22-year-old girl champion trick rider; Chester Byers, world champion trick roper, and Paddy Ryan, national champion bronco buster, will be seen in competition.

Especial interest in the round-up is being manifested by the presidential party because they have their entry in the show—"Dakota Clyde" Jones, major domo of the state game lodge seables, Clyde who held the bronco busting championship two years ago, entered the full three-day competition at Bellefourche by special permission and personal request of Mr. Coolidge. Reports coming back from the first day's running indicate Clyde more than held his own.

The trip to Bellefourche will be made by special train. The return trip will be made tonight.

FOR Acid Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle

Insist upon "Phillips". Twenty-five cent and fifty-cent bottles, any drug store. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips, since 1875.

YES—thinnest crepes, gayest of flowered chiffons, the filmiest of frocks can now be worn, under one's most distressing hygienic handicap, in complete safety.
Filled with Cellucotton wadding, the world's super-absorbent, Kotex is 5 times more absorbent than the ordinary cotton pad. And that means five times ordinary safety.
Also, you discard Kotex as easily as tissue. No laundry, no embarrassing disposal. Also—it deodorizes thoroughly.
More than a mere "pad," Kotex offers scientific protection.

GYPPED, OR, THE WORM TURNS

NOT one by one, but several at a time, the more expensive than wicked night clubs of New York are closing up. And not only for the summer season. Moreover, those still open are in danger of being closed by the sheriff.

It is not that New York is reforming nor that the thousands of visitors from the hinterland, upon whom the night clubs for a time thrived, are any less wicked. The night clubs are closing because they can no longer find patrons who can get a kick out of being gypped.

Americans look for thrills and the Great Gouge actually provided a thrill. And that was the only thrill afforded by the clubs. Those who went to these New York places and paid and paid boasted, not of the entertainment nor of how they had brushed elbows with sin, but of paying $1 for a glass of water and $1.50 for a 15-cent sandwich.

If the night clubs furnished a thrill they probably filled a demand, and the mere fact that the public is tired of being robbed by them does not mean something else will not come along next winter to rob it. Already night club proprietors are thinking up ways and means of getting another chance at the swollen pocketbook of the pleasure hunter.

THE VANISHING SMILE

THE Lindbergh smile did not greet the cheering crowds in Ottawa when on Saturday he flew there in his famous airplane to take part in the celebration of Canada's diamond jubilee. "He sat in the car," says a dispatch, "with stern face, coatless and hatless, with goggles pushed back on his forehead, while the crowds, who had not heard of the tragedy, cheered wildly in welcome."

One of the fliers who formed his escort had crashed and lost his life. It was Lieutenant J. Thad Johnson, commanding officer of the Twenty-seventh Squadron of Selfridge Field.

What could all the festivities celebrating the birth of a nation be to Lindbergh when death had struck the brotherhood to which he belongs?

The heartbreaking risk the aviator so lightly runs is well known. Scarcely a day passes that some death is not added to the toll.

But each tragedy brings a sense of sadness. And this one touched Lindbergh in more ways than one.

RECORDING HISTORY

FOR a year or so many have been viewing with alarm what they think to be a tendency to neglect and deprecate the importance of modern history. In their opinion the greatest needs of the day are another Pepys and Gibbon or Plutarch, and they hope to create them by foundations, scholarships and prizes.

It seems these serious-minded people are unnecessarily perturbed over the present and future of history. They see history being made daily and, because it is not being recorded in the traditional way, assume it isn't being recorded at all.

The fact is that this generation has revolutionized the manner of writing history just as it has revolutionized so many other things. The story of every great event and social transition of modern times is being preserved for posterity just as faithfully and even more graphically than were ancient and medieval history preserved for this age.

Archaeologists a thousand or ten thousand years hence, digging around in the remains of American civilization of the twentieth century, will uncover buttons, medals, newspapers, souvenirs, sweaters, sheet music and phonograph records bearing inscriptions and pictures telling about the conquest of the Atlantic ocean by air by the explorer Colonel Lindbergh in the year 1927.

LOOKING FOR POINTERS

He rushed into the police station, breathless with hurry and excitement. The inspector in charge regarded him gravely for a minute.

"They say you've caught the man who broke into my house," gasped the visitor.

"That's right," answered the inspector. "Do you want to see him?"

"Darn tootin'!" replied the other, excitedly. "You see, he managed to get into the house without waking my wife, and that's what I've been trying to do for the last ten years."

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 7:33. Sun rises tomorrow 4:34.

Well, we are over the Fourth of July anyhow.

A friend of ours is keeping company with a pretty shop girl and whenever he kisses her she says, from force of habit: "Will that be all today?" And she isn't hard to look at.

We often wonder why they wear clothes at all. They don't keep 'em warm and they don't keep 'em cool, but perhaps they are afraid of the police.

There are more pests chewing at things that grow this summer than we have ever noticed before. For instance, we usually have green beans ready for use in our garden by the Fourth of July, and this year we have hardly any small green bean plants. They are riddled.

Funny world! Dad scolds the kid for robbing bird nests and then shoots the birds when they are grown in the fall.

An alleged New Castle scientist who must be about as superstitious as he is scientific, says that Friday is an "unlucky day to get married on." No doubt he is right, but what about Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday?

Usually corn is more than knee high on the Fourth of July. This year it is not even knee high to a duck. Warm weather will bring it along with a rain occasionally, and there is no use being discouraged yet.

A recent night an old friend of ours was sitting in his easy chair reading The News, of course, and missing the ash tray about half the time. His good wife finally decided to try an experiment. She had a small stick in her hand. Every time after that when her inferior half missed the tray she cracked him over the back of the hand. His markmanship is improving.

Our idea of a real friend is one who thinks well of us, even if we do not deserve it.

Much of the health of young people is in their laughter. This medicine works for older folks, too. Take a good dose every day.

An authority says women show a preference for making salads when taking instructions in cooking. Does this mean they are looking for something easy that will not take much time?

Charles A. Snyder, Harrisburg politician, known to many in this city, has held office in Harrisburg for many years and during that time has drawn $110,000 from the public till and about $85,000 from Schuylkill county also. He has been granted a pension of $1,863.05 a year for life by the state of Pennsylvania. Those who know him have wondered how he gets away with it.

We are informed by an eminent New Castle physician that you can boil microbes in oil and they will still live. Such microbes are undoubtedly entitled to distinction, and we should give credit where credit is due, but what about some of the very well known New Castleites who have been soaked in bootleg likker ever since prohibition and who are still alive and kicking?

We consider Cascade Park a great asset to New Castle. It brings thousands of people to this city during the summer and we would miss it a lot if anything happened that would close it up. It is a big ad for New Castle and we don't have very many good ads going out about us.

After a holiday in the summer time, and especially when the holiday comes following a Sunday, a lot of people are dead but are still trying to move around to get the day in.

The women are cutting their hair almost as short as ours. Some of them are wearing pants. They are smoking ciragettes and drinking moonshine. How shall we retaliate? We suggest that we grow "spite beards". They never can ape us in that!

WRIT OF ABDICATION

"Today the husband has assumed a position of relative obscurity in the home."—Opinion of Federal Judge John R. Hazel.

A man should be, if there is any merit
In the accumulated lore of years,
The master of his house. Let women share it,
But let them not assume the rank of peers.
Theirs be the burden of domestic bother,
But the last word should always rest with Father.

This being so, why the persistent rumor,
Sanctioned, it seems, by the judicial bench,
And painful to the ultimate consumer,
That the proud sheik is helot to the wench?
Is "Home Sweet Home" a feministic song?
Something is most indubitably wrong.

It may be true; it must be, if our judges
From their high peak of wisdom tell the world,
Wives are no longer acquiescent drudges,
The husband's banner of command is furled;
The rights of men are swept aside like straws,
And Honey Bunch is arbiter of laws.

Yet, dearest friends, do you observe us weeping,
Or find gaunt hollows in our bearded cheeks?
Did we endure the revolution sleeping,
And wake to find our spouses wore the breeks?
Write your own answer. And then jot this down:
"Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown."

When we raise beautiful flowers we do not raise them for our own enjoyment, but also for those who pass by. You get joy out of what other people enjoy. If we would all do the things that we all enjoy it would be a great world to live in.

Now comes a well known woman hater, with the declaration that there may be something funnier in the world than a pair of skinny legs in flesh colored, rolled-top stockings, but he can't recall just what it is. This woman hater, dear readers is a wicked cuss. Some day by mistake, he'll have something nice to say about the ladies. Then he'll drop dead.

There are people who leave their automobiles stand in the middle of a street with the engine running. This is a violation of the law in itself and leaving the car in the middle of the street is another violation. You see this many times a day.

There is more automobile traffic through New Castle on Sunday than on any other day in the week, but you will see very little congestion except on certain hours of the day at a few points. This makes it plain that the congestion caused everywhere during the week is caused by local automobiles. You cannot get away from that.

It's A Good Joke.
That's In Europe.
No Laughing Matter.
Taking Flying Seriously.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1927, By N. Y. American, Inc.

You have seen the famous old painting by Leo Herrmann, called "A Good Story." Two clergymen are sitting at a dinner table, one leaning back roaring with laughter, the other telling him a story, which both evidently enjoy.

In place of two clergymen you may envision France and old John Bull, owner of great Britain and the Empire. And above their heads you see what causes the laughter. It is "the rumor from Washington that the United States government thinks PERHAPS flying machines should be taken seriously."

Lindbergh has crossed the ocean in thirty-three and a half hours. That means that EUROPE could cross the ocean and visit us, NOT on a pleasure trip, but on a war trip, in a good deal LESS than thirty-three hours.

Lindbergh had only a small plane. Europe could visit us with pursuit planes going 200 miles an hour and more, and heavy "bombers." And what Europe could do TODAY Asia will be able to do in a little while.

A German flyers, Hoennecke, will soon begin a non-stop flight from Berlin to San Francisco, and expects to make it in sixty hours.

France has the most powerful fighting air fleet in the world today. Britain, or possibly Japan, has the second fighting air fleet. The Germans, unquestionably, are ahead of all nations in airplane building and reliable airplane construction.

That German, Hoennecke, will make the flight that he plans to make, and he will have demonstrated by his non-stop flight of 6,600 miles that airplanes FROM ASIA could make non-stop flights and strike the Pacific coast with bombs and poison gas from the air.

We don't know which ocean the enemy planes would cross. We don't ANTICIPATE ANY invasion by the air just now.

But we know, the people of the United States know, ALTHOUGH THEIR GOVERNMENT APPARENTLY DOES NOT, that it is perfectly possible for flying machines to attack us coming across the Atlantic OR across the Pacific, OR FROM BOTH SIDES AT ONCE.

We are a very rich nation, swollen with gold, as was the Persian King when Alexander marched against him and conquered him and his war elephants with 30,000 Macedonians.

We are a great temptation to our poorer neighbors across both oceans.

Many other nations despise us, because they say we "lack generosity." We lent them ten thousand million dollars in war, and we are asking them to pay PART of it.

That seems to them CRUEL.

Private citizens since the war ended, banks, bond buyers, etc., have lent to Europe thirteen thousand million more.

Europe owes us, in all, twenty-three thousand million dollars.

You could build many airplanes for THAT. A hundred million dollars would easily build an air fleet that could come from Asia and Europe and quickly wipe out that debt. AND WIPE OUT SEVERAL AMERICAN CITIES AT THE SAME TIME—as many as might be desirable.

That's why it is that John Bull and France enjoy such a good laugh, when the cable solemnly tells them that Washington reading about Lindbergh's landing in Paris, concluded that "there MIGHT be something in flying."

Nobody knows what story one clergyman was telling the other in that famous painting called "The Good Story," but this is certain, it wasn't half as good a joke as John Bull and France enjoy.

The United States invented the flying machine.

It sent one young American, Lindbergh, on a non-stop transatlantic flight of 3,600 miles in thirty-three and one-half hours. It sent two Americans, Chamberlin and Levine, on a non-stop flight that, including detours from the straight line, probably amounted to 4,450 miles.

And this government of ours is only waking up to the fact that there MAY possibly be something in flying.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

STOP, LOOK AND LISTEN.

Stop and let the train go by,
It hardly takes a minute,
Your car starts off again intact,
And better still, you're in it.

There are more motor cars this summer trundling about America than ever before. They bear their precious freight of human souls, usually friends and relatives of the drivers of these cars. There are more spots today where the rails of the steam and electric roads cross American highways at grade than ever before. To be sure, with the paving of the highways has come the elimination of many grade crossings, but it seems that for every grade crossing eliminated, two others take its place.

Railroad engineers are often accused of carelessness, of going to sleep at their post, of passing signals set against them, and causing usually the loss of their own life, and the death or injury of others. The railroads of America are constantly seeking to eliminate the careless engineer. There are not many of them. They are too well trained in their work to allow themselves to become careless. It is different with the automobile driver. He usually passes a more or less superficial examination concerning his ability to drive a motor vehicle when he applies for a drivers' license. In some states, he doesn't even have to pass an examination—buys a car, asks for a license, and for a dollar or two the state gives him a license which enables him to drive his death dealing vehicle anywhere he pleases.

This is the time of year when this sort of driver starts out to beat the railroad train to the grade crossing. Some times he succeeds, and sometimes he doesn't, and sacrifices his own and other lives in his failure. The locomotive engineer can not come to a stop at every grade crossing. The automobile driver can. The time of the motorist is not so valuable as the time of the railroad train. Usually the time consumed by reason of stopping at railroad crossings causes the motorist no inconvenience whatsoever.

The doggerel at the top of this column should be memorized, and its advice absorbed by every driver of automobiles.

You can't expect much in a land where people think cooking the peculiar vocation of those who can't make a living any other way.

The thirst for culture is genuine. People go right on studying French, even though they can get just as naughty books in English.

In NEW YORK

The paper shower, which is New York's own characteristic salute to distinguished guests, was at its best in the celebration of Lindbergh's home-coming. Most of the country is familiar with the picturesque paper salute to heroes, through the news reels in the movies. A few other cities have tried it, self consciously, but nowhere has the thing been a success except in the city that originated it.

I remember well the day and the hour when the paper salute was initiated. It was the day of the premature armistice. Not all of the United States believed in the "fake" armistice, but New York hailed it far more joyously than it celebrated the real armistice, several days later. There was shouting and the paper shower then too, but the thing had been done spontaneously once, and the second celebration was more alcoholic and more deliberate.

When the cable message, announcing the armistice, arrived in the New York headquarters of the United Press, where I was employed, it was lunch hour for some of the telegraph operators. I went out on Park Row to round up operators at their luncheon counters, with the news that the war was over and that they were needed at once at their keys.

This took possibly ten minutes. I then started for Wall Street, to get a story about how the news was being received. The bell in City Hall had begun to ring wildly, and people were pouring out of office buildings, hatless, ecstatic. When I reached Wall street at Broad, a thin streamer of ticker tape was streaking across the canyon from an office thirty stories above the pavement.

Fifteen minutes later, the air in the financial district was white with tape and torn stationery. In the frenzy of that moment the paper salute was born. It was a spontaneous expression of enthusiasm of a great city's wild excitement.

Although efforts have been made to stop the throwing of paper on this and that ground, the practice persists, and nothing is done about it. I think it is a fine harmless, picturesque expression of enthusiasm that ought to be encouraged when the occasion is appropriate.

* * *

Six hundred skeletons, in very old coffins, were unearthed by subway diggers working under Eighth avenue, at Forty-fifth street, in the heart of a very busy commercial area. Nobody knows anything about these six persons, so long dead and buried under the roaring city. The skeletons and the shaky coffins will be buried in the potter's field, according to present plans.

How many of us, whose lives and deaths seem so important to ourselves and our relatives now, may thus become mere unidentifiable curiosities, to be reinterred in the graveyard of the unknown, some day!

Dr. Crane's Editorial

EDUCATION ON SHIPBOARD

The problem of conducting a school on a trans-Atlantic liner going around the world and occupying the same time as the school year, has already been tried with reasonable success.

Of course objections have been found, but objections would be found to almost any system. Nothing in this sublunary existence is perfect.

The question arises, however, Why not a school year on board a ship?

The one dominant note in modern education is to make it more practical, to depend more upon doing things than upon books in teaching children.

A child who learns botany by walking wth an instructor through the fields and examining the various plants certainly has a better working knowledge of the science than if he learned it simply from books.

A student learning the science of medicine by actual practice in a hospital will know more about the art than if he merely studied the text books.

To learn geology by picking up and examining the rocks and other substances of the earth is a more vivid way of learning it than by studying somebody's manual.

Learning by doing is the method coming and more and more into vogue.

If that is so, why not a world tour under proper auspices and training a better medium for education than residence in a college?

Geography can be more accurately comprehended by visiting the various countries than by studying the atlas. One's idea of Illinois and Kentucky is more vivid from traveling through these states than if he gets the impression from books that Illinois is red and Kentucky is blue.

The difference in various races, the different points of view of Mohammedans, for instance, Buddhists and Christians, are more accurately comprehended by seeing these people and mingling with them by reading about them. One not only learns the facts concerning these people, but he actually learns the feel of them and gets something of their spirit.

Often much of the "wander year" is occupied in mere aimless voyaging. But to have this trip under proper tutelage and to learn how to correlate all the facts observed under proper instruction must be of inestimable value to the youth.

Very often a boy is sent abroad after he finishes college to "broaden his outlook." And very often this time is spent in much aimless dissipation. To combine his studies and his traveling ought to be a good thing, and those parents who can afford it ought eagerly to grasp the opportunity to have their child travel and be trained at the same time.

Beside this, the youth receives many beneficial impressions as to world unity, if he is not so rampant an American, which means so provincial a patriot; but he realizes more and more how much larger the term "humanity" is than the term "nation". And in another generation international question must be looked upon with different eyes.

It is significant that the Cunard Line, which was one of the pioneers of the shipping industry has shown its appreciation of the future of this business by setting aside its latest boat, the Aurania, for this purpose.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE FRAIL GENIUS

A strong man thumps and pounds his way to fame,
With shot and powder men have reached a goal,
But there is more than muscle to extoll,
And all the glory and the world's acclaim
Is not intended for the sturdy frame,
Who looks at life must see it as a whole;
Must see that there's a gallantry of soul
Which by its conquests sets the earth aflame.

Against the handicaps of flesh and sight
The mind heroic stands at times supreme;
Blind Milton in his years of endless night
Taught men the power and glory of a dream.
Oft by the frailest bodies has been wrought
The everlasting glorious deeds of thought.

AMBITION—

Is a hard taskmaster.
Is the hope of progress.
Is a divine discontent.
Is an element of divinity within us.
Makes the difference between success and failure.
Is never satisfied while it lives.
Laughs at obstacles.

It pays to heed the formalities. Lindy was careful to procure good letters of introduction, and now look at him.

Don't cuss the "narrow-minded community." Any other community would act the same way if you acted the same way.

If a man is right half the time, he's doing rather well. And that is the average of the man who says he can drink or let it alone.

Fifty-Seven Hurt At Lancaster In Monday Celebration

(International News Service)

LANCASTER, Pa., July 5.—With nearly three-score persons being treated for burns and other injuries suffered in celebrating Independence Day, this vicinity today pointed to a record toll of holiday accidents. Physicians and hospitals reported treating 57 persons for hurts directly due to fireworks celebrations.

Two Are Wounded In Fourth Shootings

(International News Service)

DUBOIS, Pa., July 5.—Two persons wounded by revolver shots in Independence Day celebrations were patients at the hospital here today. Andrew Laughlin, 13, was shot in the hip by a playmate. Adam Sadowski, 30, Cleveland, was shot in the abdomen at Tyler, near here, when Walter Sarnowski, 20, of Tyler is alleged by police to have deliberately fired at him after firing several shots into the air. State troopers arrested Sarnowski and took him to the Clearfield jail. Sadowski's condition was reported critical.

Like popcorn—freshly popped popcorn—that's how Heinz Rice Flakes taste. And they stay crisp in milk or cream! The new Heinz process does it. A process which also makes use of the natural roughage element of the rice itself. This gives a moisture-absorbing quality which is one of Nature's best eliminative aids. That's why Heinz Rice Flakes are both good—and good for you!

Sleeping Beauty May Be Aroused

Doctors Believe Woman Asleep Ninety-Seven Days May Wake Up

MRS. CLARA DRUMMOND

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, July 5.—The "sleeping beauty" may some day wake up, Dr. W. J. Peacock, chiropractor, in charge of treatment of 21-year-old Mrs. Clara Drummon of Fresno, announced today. Ninety-four days ago Mrs. Drummond's brain cells were deadened by gas poisoning. Although her physical progress has gone on unimpaired, she has been mentally dead for over three months.

Dr. Peacock believed today that Mrs. Drummond is becoming faintly aware of the presence of persons near her. She is still unable, however, to act or talk consciously.

Search For Bodies Of Three Youths Drowned Monday

Convicts In Sing Sing Begged To Be Allowed To Swim To Rescue

(International News Service)

OSSINING, July 5.—Dragging the bed of the Hudson river with grappling hooks, Ossining police continued their search today for the bodies of three unidentified New York youths who drowned a few yards out from the Sing Sing prison bulkhead yesterday in a tragic holiday accident.

Their canoe overturning in the choppy waters of the river, the three young men went to their deaths while more than a thousand convicts and prison guards looked on helplessly. Duty forbid the guards from freeing a dozen prisoners who begged to be permitted to go to the rescue.

Operate Traffic Lights To Suit Traffic Demands

Officer Regulates Signals On Washington Street Over Fourth Period

Due to the immense amount of through traffic on Washington street Saturday, Sunday and the Fourth, and even yet today, the traffic light signals on Washington street have been, for the greater part of the time, operated by a traffic officer. In this way the traffic on Washington street was kept moving steadily for a longer period of time than if the signals were working automatically. This was an aid to relieving the traffic congestion here.

Three Autoes Crash Sunday At Intersection

Peculiar Accident At Corner Of Sixth And Wayne Results In No Personal Injuries

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., July 5.—Sunday evening three cars came together with a resounding crash at the corner of Wayne avenue and Sixth street, which is a most dangerous intersection. Coming from three directions, the cars couldn't make the sharp turn, and the car going north collided with a car going south, the impact causing the second car, to hit a third machine. In the ensuing tangle it was discovered that one machine, a truck was damaged to the extent that it had to be towed, and the driver didn't possess a driver's license. Police were called to the scene, and inspite of the fact that the three cars did collide, and that one contained a number of little children, there were no personal injuries reported.

Wayne avenue at Sixth street is one of the most dangerous cross-streets in town, it being the intersection of two hills. Motorists often speed to get up the hills in high gear, or find it difficult to stop going down grade. It has been the scene of several near-accidents.

Many Attend Funeral Service Of Edward Poole

ELLWOOD CITY, July 5.—Edward Poole, an esteemed resident of Ellwood City, was buried Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Many friends of the deceased were present at the services, which were conducted by Rev. A. M. Stevenson from the Poole home on Park avenue.

A wealth of beautiful floral pieces attested the place held by Mr. Poole in the hearts of his many friends. Burial took place in the Locust Grove cemetery. Pallbearers were Chesley A. Paul, Syd Wasley, John L. Patton, Ernest Linbladd, Ed Christy and Myron Wheeler of Youngstown.

Relatives were present from East Brady, Youngstown, Kaylor, Tarentum and Pittsburgh.

Two In Jail On Disorderly Charge

ELLWOOD CITY, July 5.—James Doyle, arrested over the week-end on a charge of disorderly conduct, is lodged in the county jail for 30 days.

Harry Dutton, arrested on the same charge, is also in the county jail at New Castle.

Outside of the two above arrests, and the arrest of Michael Auerso, driver of the truck that figured in the accident at Wayne avenue and Sixth street Sunday evening, the borough of Ellwood City conducted itself pretty well over the holidays. On Monday the streets were practically deserted.

Church Members Enjoy Picnic

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., July 5.—About forty-one members of the Christian church motored to the Hazen farm near Celia Stop yesterday for a picnic gathering. Baseball and other interesting activities occupied the afternoon hours. In the Eating contest, the result was a tie between Mrs. T. J. Falen and Alvie Covalt of Zelienople. The Cake-Walk contest was won by Mrs. T. J. Falen, and Mrs. Huffer of Sebring, O.

A delicious picnic menu concluded the picnic which was enjoyed by all the church members present.

Bridge, Dancing, Fireworks Bring Crowds To Club

Beautiful Display Of Fireworks Tops Off The Holiday At Ellwood Club

ELLWOOD CITY, July 5.—Monday, which was an ideal day for golf and other holiday festivities, was a full period at the Ellwood Country club. There were golf matches in the afternoon for the men members while the feminine portion of the membership enjoyed eight tables of bridge in the Lounge. At the conclusion of play the scores for high honors went to Mrs. Ralston Zeigler and Mrs. Mary Morris of Pittsburgh. The members of the ladies' entertainment committee had charge of the affair.

After a delicious dinner there was a dancing program to the tune of peppy orchestra music. The evening concluded with a brilliant display of fireworks on the lawn which is overlooked by the rear veranda.

Excellent Singing Of Men's Chorus Marks Church Service

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., July 5.—Excellent singing by the men's chorus of the First Christian church was the feature of the services of the First Christian church Sunday evening.

The male chorus is also planning to select a quartet from its number for future services.

Once a month, from now on, the male chorus will have charge of the evening singing at the regular Sunday services. Stanley Evans is the pianist.

Mrs. Walker Is Laid To Rest

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., July 5.—Funeral services for Mrs. David S. Walker were conducted from the Slippery Rock Presbyterian church with Rev. Paul Elliott in charge.

A large number of friends paid personal and floral tribute to the personality of Mrs. Walker who had resided near Smiley Stop for a number of years.

Pallbearers were Willard Walker, David Walker and Norman Walker, three grandsons and Creighton Pole and Cecil and Marion Myers. Dr. Charles Bell assisted with the funeral services. Interment was made in the Slippery Rock cemetery.

Reltives from out-of-town attending the services were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Walker of Cincinnati.

Officers Eleced At Gelbach Reunion

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., July 5.—Seventy members of the Gelbach family attended the annual reunion which was conducted Monday afternoon in the picnic grounds at Ewing Park. Members represented Pittsburgh, Mars, Evans City and Zelienople.

An important feature of the reunion was the election of officers as follows: President, Loring Gelbach; secretary, Mrs. Ben Gardner; treasurer, Miss Julia Aiken of Pittsburgh. It was decided that the president be permitted to name a committee to control the reunion next year and that it take place July 4.

Another matter of interest to the members was the fact that Mrs. Frederika Gelbach is the first great-great grandmother in the connection. Sports and lunch concluded the affair.

The charitable view is to suppose that the quality that makes a song popular is in the song and not in the people.

Activities At Methodist Church

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., July 5.—Activities of the First Methodist church for this week will be as follows:

World War Veteran Instantly Killed When Struck By Train

Charles F. Carlson Of North Mill Street Dies From Injuries At Blairsville, Pa.

Charles F. Carlson, aged 37 years of 30½ North Mill street, World War Veteran, was instantly killed Sunday Morning, July 3, when struck by a train in the Pennsylvania railroad yards at Edie, near Blairsville, Pa.

Mr. Carlson was walking on the track when he was struck. His skull was fractured and the side of his face crushed. Both legs were also badly injured. Full details of the accident were not learned.

He was born at New Wilmington, August 12, 1890, a son of John and Lavina E. Carlson. He was a mechanic by occupation and was a member of the I. O. O. F. lodge at St. Louis.

Mr. Carlson enlisted in the regular United States army with the 17th Infantry on April 3, 1911. He was later promoted to sergeant. On July 23, 1918 he enlisted in the World War and was in training in one of the federal camps until he was discharged on December 20, 1918.

The following brothers and sisters survive: W. H. Carlson, Howard Carlson and Mrs. H. L. Rich of New Castle Royal Carlson of Alliance, O., Mrs. Hilda Bowden of Grove City, Olive Briigel of this city and Mrs. Hazel Post of Grove City.

Funeral services will take place Wednesday, July 6 at 10 a. m., from White's Undertaking parlors, 337 Neshannock avenue. Rev. J. R. Rich of New Wilmington, will be in charge. Burial will be made in Akron, Ohio.

Council Approves Paving Contract

One Ordinance Adopted But Action Postponed On Six Others

Mayor William H. Dunlap did not attend the councilmanic session Tuesday and as Acting Chairman W. T. Burns said he did not wish to attach his signature to ordinances as acting mayor while the present executive was in the city councilmanic business was brief—and council adjourned until Friday.

Council approved a contract between the city and Olsen company for the paving of sections of Beckford street, Winslow and Maryland avenues and passed finally an ordinance providing for the construction of sidewalks in Berger place between Reis and Reis street.

After this ordinance had been passed Burns told council that he did not wish to sign the other ordinances while Mayor Dunlap was in the city and bills which were scheduled to be passed finally today were held over until an adjourned session of council next Friday.

Sodality Meets At St. Vitus Church

A meeting of the children of Mary Sodality of St. Vitus church was held in the church clubroom last evening. After the business of the evening was dispensed with the following interesting progam was rendered:

Piano solo, "The Grande Valse"—Lucy H. Rosati.
Poem—Mary Porfilio.
Reading—Anna Micco.
Poem—Clara Vitale.
Piano solo, "Love Sends a Little Gift of Roses"—Helen Ross.
Reading—Constance Maiella.
Poem, "Friendship"—Clara Vitale.
Piano solo, "The Butterfly"—Rosena Gelbia.

After a few remarks by Rev. Fr. Di Renna the meeting was adjourned. The Sodality will meet again in four weeks.

Firman Cole Is Visiting Parents

Firman D. Cole, former resident of this city, and his wife, and daughter Winona of Humansville, Mo., have arrived here for a visit with the former's parents Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Cole of Electric street. It is fourteen years since Mr. Cole left this city and he is much interested in the progress made by the city. During his stay here, a family reunion will be held.

Mr. Cole is in the poultry business, also the small fruit and tomato business on a large scale. One of the surprising things to him is the higher prices prevailing in this district than in his own. He raised 7,000 broilers this spring and received but eleven cents a pound. Strawberries from seven and a half acres brought a very small sum, while his tomatoes brought but $14 a ton and these had to be selected and reach a certain high standard.

Girls At Y. W. C. A. Camp Enjoying Wonderful Time

The girls at the Y. W. C. A. camp at East Brook enjoyed a wonderful week-end and Fourth, according to Miss Dorothy Stewart, physical director of the camp.

On Saturday morning a field meet was staged. June Duff took first place in this event, while Shirley Gordon came in second. The different features of the meet were as follows: 50-yard race, three-legged race, obstacle race, basketball throw, golf jump and a 50-yard dash.

On Sunday morning at 11 o'clock church services, in charge of Maude Wetmore, were held. On Sunday afternoon the camp paper was read. Helen Barr, Jane Leight, Sara Cukerbaum, Charlotte Bartlett and Ruth Schnebley are the editors of the paper.

Yesterday afternoon the girls went swimming at Lakewood Beach. In the evening they journeyed to the beach again to witness the fireworks display and after this returned to their camp and staged a fireworks demonstration of their own. After this a party was held.

According to Miss Stewart, a group from Woodlawn is expected at the camp today, but at noon they had not arrived. They will participate in the initiation to be held this evening.

The girls at the camp have chosen "Peggy" Griffith as the "best all-around camper". Shirley Gordon had the best posture throughout the week.

Allege Negroes Took Pocketbook

Police Officer Happens Along Just In Time To Aid Capture

James Heasley was engaged in a hopeless chase of John Gray, aged 34, negro, Sunday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock on Moravia street, when Officers Lynch, Horner and Longstreth, en route to another call, happened along.

They joined in the chase and captured Gray, when it was learned he had just relieved Heasley of his pocketbook containing $11. Heasley claimed that there had been two negroes in the hold-up, the other standing guard while Gray took his pocketbook from his hip pocket.

The money was returned to Heasley and Gray paid a fine of $25.

Garden Meeting On Wednesday

A garden meeting will be held at the demonstration garden at the home of Mrs. Lester B. Offutt, near Plain Grove on Wednesday, July 6. The meeting will begin at 7 p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

Mr. Walter B. Nissley, specialist in vegetable gardening, from the extension department of State College will be present to discuss questions regarding the ideal farm garden.

The preparation of the vegetables for use on the table will be discussed by home economics representatives from State College.

All persons are invited to attend this meeting.

Lawrence County Wool Pool Is Sold

At a recent meeting of the directors of the Lawrence County Co-operative Wool Growers, the 1927 wool pool, consisting of over 59,000 pounds, was sold. The purchasing concern is Horkheimer Bros. of Wheeling, W. Va., who also bought the local pool a year ago.

A representative of the company will be in the county to assist with the loading out of the wool some time during the next two weeks.

It was stated this morning that the loading would not likely be done before the middle of July.

No mention was made of the price of the wool.

The bodies have not appeared.

The efforts of an expert diver from the naval station have also failed to locate the bodies presumably caught on snags.

Believe Corn Borer Battle Just Ending Has Been Successful

Destruction of more than 95 per cent of the European corn borer is estimated as the result of the four months' intensive spring campaign in defense of the nation's corn crop which ended July 2, according to reports to the United States Department of Agriculture. General emergence of the moths of the borers renders further clean-up of corn refuse useless for this season.

This campaign, conducted by the department in co-operation with the state agricultural colleges, the state departments of agriculture, and more than 300,000 farmers of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and Indiana, is one of the most intensive ever waged against an insect pest in the United States. An area of more than two million acres was involved. Slowing up of the spread of the borer and marked reduction of damage from the pest should naturally follow this successful campaign, says the department. The final result however, will be determined this fall when records of the spread and infestation of this year's corn crop can be completed.

The campaign was begun March 14 under authority of an act of Congress appropriating $10,000,000 for the control of the European corn borer, after the necessary legislation had been enacted by the states concerned. From that time every effort has been made to acquaint farmers in the area with the measures nencessary for a satisfactory voluntary clean-up. These measures include the burning or plowing under completely of corn stalks, stubble, cobs and trash left in the field, and the removal and burning of all corn stalks, cobs and trash in barnyards, feed lots, stacks or elsewhere that had not been shredded or made into silage.

Reports received by the department indicate a very high percentage of voluntary co-operation in carrying out control measures by the farmers in the campaign area. This record on the part of the farmers in co-operating with the state and federal agencies in the clean-up work is the more noteworthy in view of the adverse weather conditions under which the work was done and the short time which remained after complete authorization of the campaign was made.

The act provided for compensation to farmers for such work as was performed in controlling the borer which was in addition to that normal and usual in their farm operations. The maximum amount allowed for such work was two dollars per acre of corn land. Under this provision of the act it is estimated that farmers in the campaign area who have made a voluntary clean-up will receive between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000. Only the fullest co-operation with the department of all forces concernend has made possible the unprecedented record of the 95 per cent destruction of this pest which threatens the corn crop of the entire corn belt.

MAN BLINDED, CHILD BADLY LACARATED BY CELEBRATION BOMB

CUMBERLAND, Md., July 5. — Albert Winters, 42, and his daughter, Myrtle Virginia, 4, are in a serious condition at Allegheny Hospital from injuries received in the explosion of a dynamite bomb which Winters was making in his home at Cresaptown for a Fourth of July celebration. Winters was preparing the cap when his knife struck the detonator. Winters is blinded in both eyes and his right leg shattered. The child, who was standing by, was partially disembowled. Both were hurled several feet.

Four Are Killed In Moscow Battle

Monarchist Conspirators And Police In Running Gun Battle

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, July 5.—Four persons were killed and five wounded in a running gun battle near Smolensk today between monarchist conspirators, headed by a woman, M. V. Zacharchemko, and a police army detachment.

Three monarchists, including Madame Zacharchemko, and one army policeman, were slain.

Armed peasants assisted in the rounding up of the monarchist band. Five of the pursuers, including a soldier, were injured.

Madame Zacharchemko and two assistants came from Finland and attempted to dynamite the army police building in Moscow on June 3. On that occasion she fled to Smolensk.

Ford Planes To Fly To Columbus

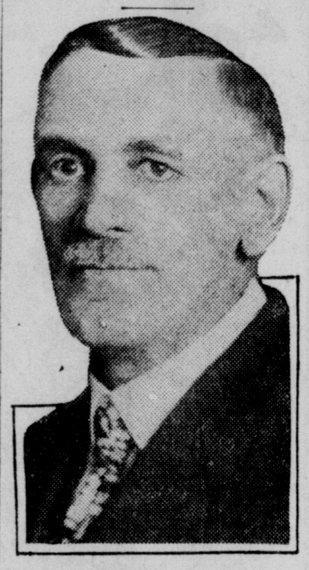
(International News Service)

DAYTON, Ohio, July 5.—The 13 planes of the Ford reliability tour were to take off here early today for a short flight to Norton Field, Columbus.

After an overnight stop following their 200-mile journey from Kalamazoo, Michigan. Eddie Stinson, of Detroit, piloting a Waco plane, was still leading the field in the reliability competition with 4323.5 points, with H. C. Mummert, Detroit, second, 3548.2 points; and Robert Page, piloting a Hamilton ship, third, 3527.6 points.

The planes will proceed late this afternoon from Columbus to Cincinnati, continuing their swing around the country. Pilots were quests of a public dinner last night, and they will be similarly honored in Columbus, where an air circus, with exhibition and stunt flights as features, will be held in their honor.

John Kaufman, Sr., In Primaries For County Commissioner



JOHN KAUFMAN SR.

To the Voters of Lawrence County:

In announcing my candidacy for the office of County Commissioner, I will say for your information, that I came to New Castle, in the year of 1895 from Pittsburgh, Pa., and was employed at the Greer Tin mill first as laborer, and later as shearman until the year 1909.

Since 1911 I have been employed by the Pennsylvania railroad as boiler makers helper and am at present in the freight department. Having no business interests at present I will if elected be able to devote my whole time and interest to the office and will endeavor to serve the best interests of the people.

Your vote and influence will be fully appreciated.

White House, Virtually New, To Be Ready For Coolidges

By CHARLES P. STEWART.
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—On their return to Washington the Coolidges—Becky, the 'coon, and all—will move right into the regular White House.

They won't go back to the Dupont Circle chateau where they stayed from early last March until they and their retinue left for the Black Hills directly after welcoming Lindy home.

The executive mansion at 1600 Pennsylvania avenue is being licked into shape for occupancy pretty fast now.

The process is somewhat akin to lifting its face.

What practically amounted to another building had to be put up all around to keep it from falling flat down while repairs were going on.

Now that the work's about completed, this mask's being peeled off, and there's the original old shack—only rejuvenated.

* * *

In strict confidence a new White House is what it really is.

When it's considered that the historic edifice was pronounced unsafe as long ago as Gen. Grant's administration it isn't hard to understand that it was rather dilapidated by last spring.

The only difference between yanking it down bodily and duplicating it from the ground up and the way these contractors haves done it is that the latter have rebuilt it a bit at a time without ever having the whole thing in a heap of ruins, all at once.

By this method all its time- honored associations have been preserved.

* * *

In the meantime the Dupont Circle place continues to attract rubbernecks—in spite of the fact that the Coolidges are out of it and gone for good.

When they moved in a little sentry box for a policeman was set up outside, right by the front door.

It gives the joint more of an official look than the White House itself—almost like royalty, for that's the kind of little coops they have at palace entrances, across the water.

It's so cute that the police department didn't take it away after the presidential family left and a big harness bull's still on duty there, too, day and night for pure ornament.

It sure catches the tourists, who seem to like the view just as well as if Cal weren't 1,500 miles away. Maybe they haven't heard he is and think that cop's standing guard over him yet.

* * *

As most folks know, Senator Jim Reed of Missouri hopes to live in the made-over White House beginning the early part of March 1929.

What's more if he can't live there he doesn't intend to live anywhere else in Washington.

For several years his address has been 1946 Biltmore street where he has a nifty house, but in the last few weeks he's given it up and moved all his furniture to Kansas City, when he came.

Reed announced some time ago that he didn't mean to run for the senate again. Obviously he was sincere about it, for evidently he doesn't consider he'll need a home here any longer after his present term expires next spring.

Unless—unless—well, if he should happen to need one later, he reckons it will be provided for him by the government. He won't need to furnish one of his own.

Next winter, it's understood he plans to hang out at a hotel.

Fourth Is Largely Safe And Sane Day In This Locality

New Castle experienced largely a safe and sane Fourth.

While fireworks were used to a large extent by the youth of the city and community, no serious accidents have been reported as a result, today.

There were several accidents during the day, but they have not been attributed to fireworks. The blank cartridge revolver was brought into use by some celebrators again, and this weapon, barred for years, was responsible for one of the accidents.

There was an unusual amount of auto traffic during the entire week-end period, but drivers of cars were exercising caution, and there were no serious accidents reported in the entire district. Of course, there were minor mishaps, but it would hardly be expected that with such a tremendous amount of traffic that there would not be a few bent fenders, etc., as hangovers.

The weather conditions were about right. The sun was out all day, but there was a stiff breeze blowing that was cool, in fact, it was all too cool for those who aspired to spend the day in a swimming hole, or on the beach.

Picnics were noted everywhere. The regular beaches and picnic groves, along with Cascade Park were utilized to the limit, and family reunions were also numerous.

Even with all of the auto traffic trains were crowded on the Fourth period, many preferring to travel in this manner rather than on the congested highways.

No fires were reported here over the Fourth.

Yale Is Building New Stand To Seat 12,000 Spectators

(International News Service)

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 5.—Modern steel stands seating 12,000 persons will be ready here when Yale University opens its next varsity season. Wooden stands from which generations have witnessed Yale baseball games are being torn down to make room for concrete and steel structures in which 6,000 persons can find seats under cover and another 6,000 can secure open bleacher seats. The new stands will cover about the same location as the old stands.

With the completion of the baseball seating outfit Yale will have all her sports adequately provided for.

The recent spring saw the new Phipps polo field put in use with plenty of seats in modern form also. Football is already cared for with the famous Bowl.

Belgian Coast Resort Quits Dancing At Nine

(International News Service)

BRUSSELS, July 5.—The Belgians are not dry like the Americans, but they can't dance as much as they would like to. The local authorities of the little seaside resort of Le Coq-sur-mer have recently ordered that all fox-trots, Charlestons and Black-bottoms cease at the early hour of nine at night and all people go home to bed.

Shooting Victim In Serious Shape

Recovery Of Mrs. Ruby Hirtaros Is Reported As Still In Doubt

Mrs. Ruby Hirtaros, aged 17, wife of Sam Hirtaros of 420 Epworth street, was reported today at the New Castle Hospital as still remaining in the same serious condition. She was shot last Friday afternoon at her home by her brother-in- law Mike Hirtaros, who made his escape following the shooting. The bullet punctured her bowels and it is considered a question as to whether she will be able to recover from the effects of her injury.

PETERS ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

By Florence Smith Vincent

SOUNDING THE ALARM

All of the four foots of Animal Land are friendly to Peter, a little boy who loves to roam in the fields and woods. He possesses the magic power of speech with them for the Old Oak Tree gave him that gift in gratitude because Peter once saved the life of the tree. They share their secrets with him, show him their homes and take him to their favorite haunts.

It had been very quiet down by the pond—so still, indeed, that Peter, who had seated himself upon a flat stone to wait for the ducklings to come and take their good night dip, had almost fallen asleep. The ducklings had not come, but some one else had—some one who was singing in a queer cracked voice. But how pretty the words were! Peter listened for a moment and then poked his head out from the marsh grasses to see who it could be. There upon the bank sat a homely brown fellow with a round face, as grave as a woodchuck's only—and the boy noticed it even from that distance—the eye that was turned toward him had the jolliest twinkle in it.

The stranger couldn't be Woodchuck, though. No woodchuck that ever lived had such a broad, flat, oval tail, a tail all covered with scales. It was this finny gentleman with the twinkling eye who was singing. When he had finished Peter sprang to his feet, clasping his hands.

"Splendid!" cried the boy. "Won't you sing again, or perhaps you would just as soon recite this time. Those words were very pretty, indeed, but if you will excuse me, I don't think that your voice was made for singing. There didn't seem to be much music in that air."

For just a second the stranger stared at the boy coming upon him so unexpectedly out of the tall grasses, and then, with a leap that carried him way out in the center of the pond, he was sounding an alarm. With body rounded, he beat with his flat tail upon the surface of the water and the sound could have been heard way beyond the meadow, the boy was sure of it.

HE BEAT WITH HIS FLAT TAIL UPON THE SURFACE OF THE WATER

"Thwack! Thwack! Thwack! Thwack! Thwack! Beware, neighbors! Enemy in sight!"

Peter was quite sure that this was the warning the tail was beating out, for here and there, midstream and near the banks of the pond, appeared frightened faces, just their noses and eyes poking up for a second, as suddenly to disappear the instant their owners caught sight of the Two-Legs on the bank.

Denver Entry In Plane Tour, Out

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 5.—Cloyd P. Clevenger, pilot of the Denver entry in the National Air Tour, today worked on replacing the motor in his Eaglerock Whirlwind plane forced down near here Sunday because of a broken clyinder and piston ring. Clevenger announced he would rejoin the tour as a guest plane, no longer competing for one of the prizes.

Tiny Turtle Cause Of Auto Accident

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., July 5.—Reaching down to push away a large turtle caught on a fishing trip and which was crawling up his leg as he was driving his expensive sedan, Cyrus Kinne, 206 Fulton street, lost control of his automobile on the East Lake road, a quarter of a mile from Midway Park, and it turned over twice after hitting a tree. Mr. Kinne received a few scratches and bruises only.

The motorist had been fishing and found the turtle near the lake. He thought he would take it home as a joke and placed it in his car. When the turtle started to crawl up his leg he reached down to push it away, and in some manner the car swerved from the roadway. After it had rolled over it was badly damaged.

DIES IN PLANE FALL.

CINCINNATI, July 5.—One was killed and two injured, one probably fatally, when an airplane which was following a racing hydroplane on the Ohio river at Laughery Island, near Aurora, Ind., crashed fifty feet to the river bank Monday.

Harry Dansbury, 24, of Rising Sun, Ind., was killed and Raymond Hodges, assistant superintendent of the water and light company of Rising Sun, and Edward Roefling, the pilot of the airplane, were injured. Dansbury and Hodges were passengers.

The airplane was from the commercial field at Cleves, O., near Rising Sun.

Halverson Dies From Injuries

Slease Is Held Pending Outcome Of Coroner's Inquest In Case

NEW CASTLE MAN WAS DRIVING CAR

Following injuries received when he jumped from the automobile of George Slease of this city, William Halverson of McKeesport, Pa., died Monday, July 4th, in the McKeesport, Pa., hospital. The man's skull was fractured and he received internal injuries.

On June 29, Mrs. Halverson had been visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Slease of this city, according to her story. About midnight she decided to return home and Mr. Slease drove her back to McKeesport. As they were riding down one of the streets of that city, Mr. Halverson saw them and jumped on the running board. Mr. and Mrs. Halverson had been separated for some time.

Mrs. Halverson claims that her husband was intoxicated and that he urged her to return to him, and threatened to commit suicide unless she did. Upon her refusal he jumped from the running board of the car and lit upon his head on the concrete.

Slease returned to New Castle but upon learning that he was wanted for questioning by the McKeesport authorities, went to the New Castle police station and was taken to McKeesport by an Allegheny county officer.

Candidates Will Get Signatures

Thursday, July 7, Is First Day To Secure Petition Signatures Here

Thursday, July 7 is the first day for the securing of signatures to candidates petitions, filing in the office of the county commisioner, and from all indications James R. Lamoree, chief clerk to the county commissioners will be deluged with requests for such petitions.

At the present time there are 16 candidates for the county commissionership on the Republican ticket and about six on the Democratic ticket. There are at least five Republican candidates for county treasurer and one Democrat, two candidates on the Republican ticket for prothonotary and four for city treasurer.

Few candidates seem apparent now for the mayoralty but some opposition will probably develop. The same is true of council. The fight for the jobs in city hall has not developed, but without any doubt there will be some.

Candidates for the judgeship have had their petitions out since June 22. These petitions have to be filed in Harrisburg and all the other offices named must be filed in the office of the county commissioners.

Norbeck May Replace Dawes

Mentioned As Possible Runningmate For Coolidge

GETS ATTENTION AT PRESENT TIME

By CHARLES P. STEWART.
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—President Coolidge's sojourn in the Black Hills is serving as a fine piece of publicity for one national character—Senator Peter Norbeck of South Dakota.

Next to the Coolidges themselves Pete appears to be getting the lion's share of advertising out of the presidential family's vacation.

His fellow senator William H. McMaster has hardly been heard from, but the papers have been full of Peter. His picture's been printed any number of times too, showing the Coolidges around, playing with their pet raccoon, wearing a 10-gallon hat, sitting in an automobile, doing all kinds of things.

* * *

Due notice is also being taken of the fact that Pete is now being mentioned quite frequently as a vice presidential possibility.

It isn't regarded as surprising that he should be considering how prominently he has been looming up of late in Coolidge company, but what Washington would like to know is how he managed to assimilate unto himself so large a proportion of the limelight.

Norbeck never was known here as one of the boys who pushed himself to the front much. Plenty of mere ordinary representatives have been more successful at it than he has.

When he saw his chance however, he appears to have come a-running.

* * *

The Washington estimate of Pete is that he wouldn't make a bad running mate for Calvin, provided he can keep up his present lick as a publicity-getter.

He comes from a good part of the country.

South Dakota's quite a pivotal corn belt state. It's rather on the edge, to be sure and it hasn't many electoral votes, but it virtually counts, for political purposes, as part of several other states—like Iowa, Nebraska, North Dakota of course maybe even Minnesota and Wyoming and by some stretch of the imagination Kansas and Colorado.

In Iowa, which certainly is pivotal, a South Dakotan is regarded almost as a native son.

Pete's geography's in his favor.

* * *

Norbeck's also a Scandinavian of the second generation of whom there are scads in the northwest.

He's had a reputation as quite a radical. He calls himself a "Roosevelt Republican"—not a plain Republican. When politicians have been engaged in sizing up the senate, they've always been a little doubtful if they hadn't ought to set Pete Norbeck down among the "insurgents."

He generally has been put in what Senator Shipstad calls the "twilight zone."

This is fine. It's radical enough—at least Pete probably hopes it is—for radicals to regard him as a radical and yet not radical enough to make conservatives too darn afraid of him.

* * *

Is it too much to wonder if Pete had the vice presidency in the back of his head when he waged the campaign he did to get the Coolidges to go to the "hills"?

If he thought the whole scheme up, and really expected things to turn out as they have his political slickness is a credit to him.

It hardly seems like an accident. He was too promptly on the job for that.

Anyway a month ago nobody'd any more have thought of Pete Norbeck in connection with the vice presidency than they'd have thought of—well anybody who wasn't supposed to stand a ghost of a chance at it—and now, blame if all the politisions aren't saying "H'm, after all he mightn't be such a bad nomination."

That's the way folks get to be nominated..

American Chemical Society In Session At State College

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., July 5.—With internationally known chemists from Germany, Switzerland, China and several Latin-American countries in attendance, the American Chemical Society opened its institute of chemistry at Pennsylvania State College here today.

Discussions of the latest developments in chemistry, many of which delegates said promised to revolutionize the world industry, were to feature the sessions.

Among those in attendance were Dr. George D. Rosengarte, of Philadelphia, president of the society, and internationally known chemist; Dr. John E. Teeple, of New York, and Dr. L. V. Redman, vice president of the Bakelite Corporation.

FIFTY BOYS TO BE BANQUETED

Boys Leaving For Fort Washington To Be Guests Tonight

About 50 boys will attend the banquet which will be given this evening by the local American Legion post as a farewell to the boys who will leave tomorrow evening for the C. M. T. C. camp at Fort Washington, according to Capt. Melvin L. Craig, who has charge of the C. M. T. C. recruits in this section.

The banquet will be staged tonight at 7 o'clock at the American Legion home on North Jefferson street. Attorney George Muse, county chairman of the C. M. T. C. and Major Walter W. Golden of the reserve corps, in charge of Ellwood City recruits, will attend.

Capt. Craig states that there is a possibility that he has missed some of the boys who are going to the camp this summer, in sending out invitations. However, he hopes that this did not happen and wants every boy going to the C. M. T. C. camp to attend the banquet tonight.

IOWA TAKES OVER ROADS

DES MOINES, Ia., July 5.—Monday was a day of good news for Iowa good roads enthusiasts.

The primary road system of the state formally came under the jurisdiction of the state highway commission under a new law conferring enlarged powers; a three-cent gasoline tax to be turned into the road fund became effective yesterday, and extensive road improvements were announced as in prospect.

In assuming control over the primary road system, the commission takes over much of the work heretofore done by ninety-nine counties.

State Highway Patrolmen Glasser, Lynn and State Policeman Brush of the New Castle detachment have been detailed to Farrell but will return here next week. State Policeman Munce and State Highway Patrolman W. J. Constantine are on duty here.

Watermelons Make Garbage Increase

Cans Are Filled With Remnants Of Melons Phillips States

"Everybody eats watermelon," said Howard Phillips today in stating that the collection of garbage has increased since the watermelons arrived from the south, but added: "Let 'em eat—we're not having any difficulty removing garbage."

"It is heavy, of course," Phillips declared and a majority of the cans contain remnants of melons and fruit spoiled by heat.

NOT THIS TIME

ST. LOUIS, July 5.—Persons living along the 4,300 block of Itaska street thought that an earthquake was visiting the city when they heard a deep rumbling and the windows of their dwellings rattled. Policemen were called to the scene by earthquake reports and they discovered that it was only a pavement-quake. The heat had caused concrete blocks in the street to swell and rise with a great rumbling noise.

It seems strange to limit armament and do nothing at all about oratory.

Jiggs Elephant Name Contest Winner Calls Elephant "McMammoth"

Announcement is made today of the winner of the Jigg's elephant naming contest, in which several thousand readers of The News participated a few weeks ago.

The announcement is made by George McManus, creator of the "Bringing Up Father" cartoon in the following."

Just before announcing the winning name, I want to thank all who contributed their time and toil towards producing and forwarding so many suggestions for the name of Jiggs' elephant that first appeared some weeks ago in my "Bringing Up Father" strip.

Over sixty thousand letters were received from many parts of the United States proposing names for the pachyderm character in "Bringing up Father' and from this avalanche of correspondence I have finally chosen the following:

McMammoth.

Submitted by Ralph D. Shirley of Woodland, Pa., care of the Altoona (Pa.) Tribune.

Mr. Shirley, the only one to submit "McMammoth" will receive the $50 check for sending in that winning name. There were other good names. "Tag-a-long" led the list, followed closely by "Jumbo" and "Trixie;" hundreds of people suggested Lindbergh and Coolidge, and many "G. O. P." There were numerous combinations of the names Jiggs, Maggie and Dinty .Some remarkable gleanings from Classic Arabic and Indoese dictionaries were scholarly contributions to this name. One bright little miss from Hartford, Conn., sent me more Greek and Latin names than I ever saw in Plutarch's "Lives"! "Psychopompous" was her favorite.

But I like "McMammoth" best because of its originality and humorous flavor. Besides the "Mc" part of it means "son" as many Celts know, and surely this elephant depicts an offspring of the mammoth genus. Furthermore, the Rajah who gave the elephant to Jiggs will approve the name "McMAMMOTH" as a humorous allusion to your cartoonist who sent Jiggs and his merry mob to India.

Moreover, naming that pygmy cartoon elephant with a play on the word "mammoth' savors of the comic

Again I thank the New Castle News and your readers for the interest shown in the pesky pachyderm of Jiggs.

Local Musicians Play In Cleveland

Local musicians assisted the Qut Mori Grotto band of Youngstown in winning the international band contest held at the convention of the Mystic Order Veiled Prophets of the Enchanted Realm in Cleveland last week. New Castle men assisting were Paul B. McCandless, oboe; E. M. McCreary, bassoon; H. C. Breese, alto clarinet; Earl Streib, clarinet, and Willard Perdue, assistant to the percussionists.

The band will compete in Richmond, Va., next June. This is the second international cup this band has taken. It is under the direction of Prof. B. D. Gilliland, who was a member of the Consistory band of this city when it was in existence. The Aut Mori Glee Club also won the contest.

Militant Women To Put Rights Up To Coolidge

National Party Meeting May Interrupt Chief Executive's Fishing

Suffragists Plan Motor Trip To Black Hills In New Demands

(International News Service)

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 5.—The fight for equal rights for women will be put squarely up to President Coolidge, if militant delegates to the annual convention of the National Woman's party, to be held here July 7-10, have their way.

The president's piscatorial activities around the streams adjacent to the summer White House in the Black Hills of South Dakota will be interrupted by an automobile caravan of ardent feminists who will motor from Colorado Springs to Rapid City for the purpose, they declare, of fully acquainting and familiarizing the chief executive with the demands they plan to put up to congress at the next session for "complete equality of the sexes."

Mr. Coolidge will be asked by members of the "equal rights for women" pilgrims to support a new amendment to the federal constitution.

Plan Big Caravan.

Plans for the equal rights caravan will be made during the convention, according to Miss Rebecca Hourwich, vice chairman of the Maine state branch of the Woman's party, who is already in Colorado Springs.

The pilgrimage is to mark the climax of the convention. It will seek to impress the president with the need of American women for an equal rights amendment to the national constitution. While the organization has done much to remedy the situation in various states by winning equal rights for the women in the equal guardianship of children, equal divorce rights, equal inheritance rights and woman's right to sit on juries and to hold public office, it still faces a national and international struggle, Miss Hourwich said.

Miss Dorothy Evans, London, will represent a number of feminist societies of England at the convention. She will outline the plans of the International Woman's party in a message delivered for the international advisory council, a group composed of 43 women representing 21 different nations. Cooperation with the women of Europe is the point which Miss Evans will stress in her talk.

The equal rights campaign which is expected to culminate in the amendment to the constitution was instituted six years after the suffrage for women victory.

Leaders to Attend.

Many of the conventions most distinguished women will leave Washington July 3 for Colorado Springs. Among them will be Gail Laughlin, Portland, Me., member of the Maine legislature and vice chairman of the national council of the Woman's party; Margaret Whittemore of California, national vice president, who is at present in charge of the Washington headquarters; Mrs. Dora G. Ogle, business manager of the Equal Rights, official publication of the party, and Miss Anna Pennybacker of Philadelphia, vice chairman of the Pennsylvania divisions of the party.

International cooperation in the feminist movement will be stressed by Miss Anita Pollitzer, secretary of the South Carolina Woman's party, who has recently returned from study of the movement in Europe.

The final act of the convention will be to choose the women who are to carry the message of the equal rights for women move to President Coolidge. A large group will be chosen. They will make the tour in automobiles decorated with the insignia of the organization and will make enough stops on the trip to distribute propaganda throughout the country.

Among the prominent women included in the committee for the convention arrangements are Miss Mable Vernon, Delaware; Mrs. John Winters Brannan, New York; Dr. Caroline Spencer, Colorado, and Mrs. W. Nelson Whittemore, Michigan.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont of New York, president of the Woman's party, will be unable to attend the convention. She is in France.

Seventh Ward

BOY SCOUTS OFF TO CAMP TODAY

Local Troop Goes To Scout Camp; Other News Notes Of Seventh Ward

A number of members of the Kiwanis Boy Scout troop number 4, left this morning bag and baggage for the boy scout camp. The trip there was made via truck.

Among the boys from the ward at the scout camp this week are, Robert Wilson, Joseph Cunningham, Eugene Walker, David Bender, Jack Harris, Joseph Wylie, Paul Wilson, Fred Wettich, Leroy Turk, Dick McIlwain, Blaine Farver, and Archie Stewart. Next week at least two more scouts plan to go, these are George Maud and Bill Emerick.

The boys are anticipating a good time, as they have been planning on this time at camp for months.

Last Friday evening the scout troop from the ward had a hike and spent the night camping near Hickory Creek.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Wednesday evening, there will be a teachers and officers meeting. This meeting will be held at 7:45 Eastern Standard Time, in place of the regular prayer meeting.

O. R. C. LODGE

The Ladies Auxiliary to Order of Railroad Conductors will have their lodge meeting, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Clendenin hall, instead of the K. of P. hall in the seventh ward where it is usually held. Members please note the change in the place of meeting.

FOURTH CELEBRATED

The children of the ward and perhaps the grown-ups must have had a good time in the ward, if the streets covered with remnants of what was originally fireworks would mean anything. Looks like a good job for the street cleaners, if the persons who put them off, having a good time, do not clean up. Streets sure look like one grand and glorious Fourth was celebrated.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The regular prayer service, Wednesday evening, will be followed by the monthly meeting of the session. There will also be a business meeting of the members of the Opportunity Circle.

The members of the Opportunity Circle are planning to hold a lawn social on the church lawn on Tuesday evening, July 12.

M. E. G. AUXILIARY

The members of the M. E. G. Auxiliary of the Mahoning Presbyterian church will have their monthly meeting this evening at the home of Miss Mae Park on Cherry street. Roll call will be answered with giving the answers of the first fifteen questions of the Catechism. The missionary topic, "Stewardship," will be discussed by Mrs. W. E. Guy. The meeting will be at 8 o'clock daylight savings time.

HOME FROM CAMP

A number of girls from the seventh ward returned home Monday after spending the past week at Camp East Brook, the Y. W. C. A. camp. They report having a good time. Among these girls at camp were, as follows: Isabel Shaw, Marjorie Gilmore, Annabel Weddell, Hazel Smith, Jane Leicht, Frances Hyde, Ruth Schnebly and counsins, Margaret McCormick of Cherrytree, Pa., and Beulah Longacre of Detroit, Mich.

HAVE GUESTS

Mrs. H. H. Parker and daughters of Winston-Salem, N. C., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Bollinger of West Madison avenue. They plan to be here for some time.

ATTEND REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Gilbert and children of Eighth street were at Berlin Center, O., on Monday, where they attended the annual Miller reunion.

PENNA-BO PICNIC

The annual Penna-Bo lodge picnic will be held at Cascade Park, Thursday. The husbands and families of the lodge members will be guests. The picnic is an all day event.

B. W. R. CLUB.

Mrs. William Ellgass and Mrs. O. G. Solars will be joint hostesses to the members of the B. W. R. club, Friday evening, in the former's home on Grimes street.

BASEBALL GAMES

The baseball team of the Mahoning M. E. church will play two games this week. A game tonight will be played between the First M. E. and Mahoning M. E.

Thursday evening will be the Reformed Presbyterian vs. the Mahoning M. E. team. Both games will be played on the E. and A. grounds.

VISIT HERE

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Peterson and sons Gilbert, Corwin and Verne of Windsor, O., and Miss Ella Peterson, of Warren, O., visited over the week-end and holiday with Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Peterson of Eighth street.

BREAKFAST AT PARK

Wednesday morning the members of the Sheehy-Miller Auxiliary will have a breakfast at Cascade Park. Breakfast will be served at the grove at 6:30 eastern standard time. Members of the society are meeting at 5:45 a. m., standard time to go to the park.

O. N. O. CLUB.

The members of the O. N. O. club will have their club picnic at Cascade Park, Thursday evening. Committee in charge of the arrangements is comprised of Mrs. Arthur Stump, Mrs. H. W. Booher and Mrs. Maurice Boyd.

SEVENTH WARD PERSONALS

Mrs. E. W. Hindsman of Newell avenue is visiting relatives at Painesville, O., for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Hotchkiss of Pittsburgh, Pa., were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Gillespie over the week-end and holiday.

Tread Wear

. . . that is Slow and Even

Most balloon tires develop certain peculiarities in tread wear. They do not wear down evenly in the center of the tread but at two points near the shoulder. They are subject to "cupping" and uneven wear. And this is because they not only have a forward wearing motion but a side-wise "scuffing" wear as well.

In Goodyear's NEW All-Weather Balloon ALL these faults have been overcome. Its tread design reduces side-wise "scuffing" to a negligible minimum. Then two sturdy service ribs fortify this tire at points of greatest wear. Its tread wears slowly, evenly—far longer than old style balloon treads.

Let us explain this tread to you. Stop in today!

Horse-Shoe Game Here Wednesday

Davis And Risk To Pitch On Ben Franklin Field, Wednesday

C. C. Davis national horseshoe pitching champion and Jimmie Risk, the 17-year-old school-boy who defeated the former champion, Jackson in the tournament at St. Petersburg Fla., last winter will play at Franklin field Wednesday afternoon under the auspices of the local Horseshoe Pitchers league. A large crowd is expected and no admission will be charged.

Davis and Risk are being brought to New Castle for the purpose of stimulating the pitching of horseshoes which is an art obtained only after countless hours of pitching.

However, it is through exhibitions such as Davis and Risk will give here that the mame is aided and the correct manner of holding and pitching is obtained. The game will start at 6:30 o'clock.

Reward Is Given For Dog's Rescue

Police And Firemen Remembered For Act Of Kindness Last Spring

It always pays to be kind to dumb animals. At least members of the police and fire departments believe that such is the case.

Early last spring during high water and ice conditions Officer Pete Hillers and two city firemen, one of them Fireman Byron Zeitler, rescued a fine bred police dog from a narrow strip of dry land next the Johnson building and adjoining the Neshannock creek

The rescue was made with some difficulty and the firemen and Officer Hillers did a good piece of work in getting the dog out.

The owner of the dog was very much pleased with the work done. Sunday he appeared at the police station and fire department and stated that he was ready to reward the men who had effected the rescue of his dog.

This valued dog, a female, had just had seven pups, all well bred, and the rescuers were entitled to their choice from among five of them, he said. Officer Hillers gave his chance to Officer Charles Longstreth, while Fireman Zeitler secured the other.

Both are now the possessors of fine pedigreed police puppies as a result of a little human kindness displayed to a dog when in trouble.

TIMELY REMINDERS From The Pennsylvania State College

Tip Berry Canes—Tip the new canes on the black raspberries and blackberries as soon as they reach the desired height, usually 28 to 36 inches, say horticulturists of the Pennsylvania State College.

Control Codling Moth—Spray apple trees with arsenate of lead and lime sulphur to control the codling moth. Use three pounds of lead in the usual amount of lime-sulphur.

Give Porkers Shade—If the pigs do not have permanent shade, such as that provided by trees, put up a temporary structure. This is especially important for heavy hogs and sows farrowing in the fall. Also provide plenty of fresh, clean drinking water in receptacles in which the pigs cannot wallow.

Harrow the Soybeans—Where rains have packed down the soil over soybeans so that a crust has formed, loosen the soil with a spike-tooth harrow to let the beans through. If weeds are troublesome after the beans come up, go through the field with a spike-tooth harrow or weeder. This should be done about the middle of the day when the young beans are slightly wilted, so they will not break.

Keep Up Milk Flow—To maintain a good milk flow during the fall months extra feeding of green feed or grain, or both, should begin now or as soon as pastures begin to get short.

Prepare for 1928 Shortcake—As soon as strawberries are all picked, start preparing the bed for next season if it is worth keeping over. Cultivate, hoe and fertilize because fruit buds are formed in the late summer and fall.

A party of scientists is going to Africa to study the testse fly, but the housewife's summer campaign will be concentrated as usual on the home-grown species.—Canton Daily News.

Building Permit Records Here Put New Castle High In State

REPORT SHOWS $706,435 INCREASE

HARRISBURG, July 5.—Building permits issued in 36 Pennsylvania municipalities in May totalled $22,537,129 compared with $22,682,039, for the same month in 1926, the department of labor and industry announced today. Eighty-seven per cent of the permits were for new construction, the remainder being for alterations and repairs.

Comparable data available for 33 cities for the first five months of 1927 and 1926 showed the value of permits for this year to be $88,639,715 while those for the same period last year amounted to $96,674,047.

Gains in building volume in May were reported by 13 of the 36 cities and boroughs including Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, with gains of more than $2,000,000 and $700,000 respectively. McKees Rocks gained almost $150,000; Uniontown nearly $70,000; Oil City, $51,000 and Jamestown, $36,000.

Twenty-three of the cities and boroughs reported losses. Ten with losses in excess of $100,000 were: Wilkinsburg, $678,675; Easton, $513,748; Reading, $245,325; Wilkes-Barre, $243,690; Bethlehem, $237,760; Pottsville, $234,675; Erie, $207,419; Bradford, $187,453; Allentown, $187,025 and Hazleton, $117,801.

Sixtoon cities showed an increase building over the first five months of 1926, while 17 showed decreases. Nine of the 16 showing increases of more than a quarter million dollars follow: Scranton, $1,717,346; New Castle, $706,435; Allentown, $537,215; York, $404,411; Oil City, $356,392; Pottsville, $314,515; Uniontown, $295,885;; Erie, $293,339; and Bethlehem, $294,444. Those showing decreases of more than a quarter million dollars were Philadelphia, $6,888,855; Pittsburgh, $1,473,073; Reading, $1,130,400; Hazleton, $709,502; Wilkinsburg, $674345; Williamsport, $569,549; Wilkes-Barre, $501,547 and Easton, $464,264.

An analysis of the types of buildings to be erected for May 1927 compared to May 1926, disclosed a general decrease for May, 1927, in the number of all classes of buildings while the average cost per building of all new residential buildings is increased by more than $400 and an average increase per building for new non-residential buildings of approximately $2,500.

Land Huge Sea Turtle In Ohio

Campers Catch 200-Pounder With Steak At Chillicothe

CHILLICOTHE, O., July 5.—The prize catch of the year from Paint creek was made by George Schuer and Charles Fetherolf at their camp a mile east of Borneville yesterday. It is a turtle of the deep sea variety and weighs well over 200 pounds. The turtle fills the bath tub in which it is being exhibited. Its head is about eight inches across.

It has flippers instead of feet, each equipped with a talon-like hook, eyes almost as large as that of a human being and is green and mossy with age.

A wire-wound leader with an inch hook baited with beefsteak and a clothesline line landed the turtle.

He will be used for making soup.

NO HOLIDAY FOR FARMERS MONDAY

Most Of Them Celebrate Fourth Of July By Working In Hay Fields, Cutting Crop

While thousands of autoists rode by on the roads, farmers were noted busily engaged in the hay fields, cutting down the season's crop of hay on Monday.

There was hardly a hay field in the county that was in shape for the mowing machines that farmers were not busy yesterday.

The farmer couldn't afford to pass up the good weather to celebrate the holiday.

The hay crop is good this year, farmers report.

Lawrence County Residents Given Jobs With State

(From News Bureau (State Capital))

HARRISBURG, July 5.—Lawrence county residents whose names have been added to the state payroll during the latter half of June include: Sam A. Rosine, New Castle, assistant draftsman, highway department; Nayman F. McNally, New Castle, assistant inspector, highway department; Leroy J. Johnson, New Castle, assistant draftsman, highway department.

Lawrence F. Magee, Ellwood City, chairman, highway department and Alexander S. Thomas, New Castle, payroll auditor, department of labor and industry.

Million Dogs In Greater New York

NEW YORK, July 5.—There are 600,000 in New York city 1,000,000 in Greater New York.

That number of dogs is almost incomprehensible. Statistically however we can get some idea of what it means.

Joseph Leary the man who collects dog taxes at the office of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals at 26th street and Madison avenue is largely responsible for the figures.

If all the dogs in New York were placed in a straight line ten feet apart the line would extend from Times Square to Hamburg.

Governor Fisher Is Going Fishing

Pennsylvania State Executive Will Go To Michigan On July 21

By WILLIAM B. BROWN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 5.—Governor John S. Fisher is going fishing ala Coolidge on his vacation.

Although the State's chief executive admits beforehand that he is no experts angler, he hopes to show the President that Pennsylvania can hold its own with Vermont when it comes to producing fishermen-executies. Governor Fisher will leave Harrisburg July 21 to go to Mackinac, Michigan for two weeks.

Governor Fisher said, however, that he is less intent on establishing angling records that he is on getting a good rest. After his trip to Mackinac the Governor may visit relatives in the middle west, he said, although his plans there are as yet very indefinite.

The legislature and its attendant flood of bills was hardly out of the way until the Governor was compelled to plunge into consideration of the hundreds of appointments which awaited his attention.

The appointments to the various commissions and vacancies added to the endless streams of job hunters which at all times filled the executive offices kept the Governor on the job much longer hours than the average Capitol Hill employe is accustomed to work, and as a result Governor Fisher feels he needs two weeks of rest at least.

Whether or not there will be an "official party" with the Governor on his Michigan trip has not been announced, but it is reasonably certain that it will not be necessary to charter any school houses in the Michigan woods to hold Governor's clerical forces while the State executive rests. The Governor expects his short trip to be a real vacation, and it is thought he will refuse to be annoyed by any official matters during his stay.

The Governor's private secretary, A. Boyd Hamilton, will remain in Harrisburg during the absence of the Governor. Howard Rigby, the executive secretary to the Governor may accompany the executive on his trip west. Whether or not there will be others in the party has not been determined.

Practically the only recreation the Governor has had have been short auto rides in the vicinity of Harrisburg and week-end trips to Indiana, his home. Usually he has traveled in his own car which bears neither an official license nor any other marker.

NOT ALL MILK AND HONEY.

NEW YORK July 5—Lest the world think that the life of a skipper is all milk and honey Mrs. T. L. Simpson wife of the commander of a British freighter has arrived here from England to meet her husband after not seeing him for two and a half years. Mrs. Simpson thought that she'd keep house for her sea captain in between trips as he is soon slated for an Oriental tour. Captain Simpson was waiting at the dock with a taxi-cab when his wife arrived.

GROVE CITY

The first of the series of Union open air vesper services, entered into by the churches of the local community, was held Sunday evening on the college athletic field at 6:15. The service was very well attended by people of the community. Dr. L. H. Beeler of the Grove City college faculty gave a patriotic address and special music was furnished by a union choir and orchestra under direction of Foster C. Jones. Amplifiers secured through the co-operation of radio station WSAJ of the college were used at the service making it possible for everyone to hear clearly.

Next Sunday the Grace Methodist church is in charge of the service and plans are being made to prepare an interesting service. The mens chorus of the church will furnish music and the sermon will be preached by Dr. H. H. Barr, pastor of the church. The services will be held each Sunday evening on the college field with the various churches alternating in taking charge of the program.

Local churches are busy planning and completing arrangements for their annual church picnics which will be held during this month. The Grace Methodist church Sunday school will hold its picnic at Community park on Wednsday, July 13 and the First Presbyterians are making arrangements for their annual outing at the park on Friday July 15. Committees of the United Presbyterian church are also busy with the delails of their picnic which will be held at Community park but no definite date for the outing has yet been announced.

The Mary E. Williams Missionary society of the Methodist church will hold their picnic this evening in College park. In case of rain the committee have made arrangements to hold the event in the church gymnasium. The Epworth League of the Methodist church will hold their annual outing in Memorial park at 5 o'clock on Friday July 8.

The big celebration planned for by the local Volunteer Firemen's association and the Clair Van Eman Post No. 220 of the American Legion started early Monday morning with the firing of 21 salutes by local companies of the 112th Infantry, Pennsylvania National Guard. The day's schedule of events began at the College Athletic field at 10 a. m. with a big demonstration and jamboree of the Boy Scouts of the local Scout council. The events were featured by a gigantic parade at 1 o'clock headed by "Miss Grove City" on a special float.

The evening was featured by the $500 fireworks display which was shown at the college field at 8:30. The display included 21 set pieces as well as a number of noisemakers and other pieces.

The First Baptist church of Grove City will begin an open air evangelistic campaign Sunday evening, July 10, at 8 p. m. at Community park. The services will be conducted by Evangelist Lakin of West Virginia assisted by Sam Raborn also of West Virginia who will lead the song service.

The Spanish-American War Veterans of this section of Western Pennsylvania will hold their annual conclave and picnic here at Memorial park on July 20. Alex Hutchison of Grove City, who is commander of the local post, states that there will be 14 posts represented and that the event will be the largest gathering of Spanish War vets held in this section. A program of speeches and sports is being arranged by the local committee. The following camps and auxiliary organizations will be represented: Butler, New Castle, Clarion, Qittaning, Sharon, Freeport, Oil City, Franklin, Meadville, Beaver Falls, Greenville, DuBois, Sharpsville and Grove City.

Help To Dedicate Addition To Home

New Castle Men Participate In B'nai B'rith Dedication

ERIE, Pa., July 5.—A new addition to the B'Nail B'rith Home for children at Fairview, near Erie, was dedicated Monday afternoon at which puominent men and women from all sections of the country were present. The dedication ceremonies were held in a large tent on the home grounds, followed by a program rendered by the children. Isador Sobel, president of the board of governors had charge of the exercises. Among those who participated were Abe Levine, member general committee, district three, New Castle and Marcus Feutchwanger, chairman building committee on permanent buildings of the home and governor of the house and past president of district No. 3, New Castle.

Non-Smokers Are Cited At Prague

(International News Service)

PRAGUE, July 5.—Delegates to the anti-tobacco conference were told today by H. C. Barden of Chicago that the youth of Chicago "smiles less and learns better" than the older generation as a result of progress made by the anti-tobacco league in its campaign against nicotine.

Among those cited at the conference as exhibits of famous non-smokers are Shakespeare, Ford, Rockefeller, Masaryk, Goethe and Shaw.

VACANT LOTS PROFITABLE.

MEAD, Colo., July 5.—The problem of doing away with unsightly vacant lots within the limits of the municipality has been solved by the Mead city council and profitably at that. The council decided that 50 vacant lots cluttered with tin cans and weeds could be made beautiful and so they had them plowed and planted with wheat at no expense to the owners. Now the city has just harvested the crop and the profits have been turned over to a campaign for cleanliness.

BANTAM HEN HATCHES QUAIL.

EDWARDSVILLE, Mo., July 5.—Two broods of quail in as many years is something that not every bantam hen can brag about, but "Whitey," a bantam on the farm of H. W. Fry claims that distinction, as she is mothering her second brood now. "Whitey" was pressed into service last year when the farmer discovered a setting of 16 eggs in mowing a field on the farm. She took care of the birds in a motherly fashion until they flew away in the fall.

NEW CASTLE AND BUTLER DIVIDE HOLIDAY BILL

Locals Lose Morning Game At Butler 11-8, Win In Afternoon 7-2

New Castle Fails To Advance In First Half Closing Of League Games

Meis Hurls Fine Game For Locals In Afternoon Tilt Here; Hitting Features

By "BUGS" WALTHER

New Castle and Butler divided a twin bill yesterday, as the first-half of the O. & P. League schedule was brought to a close. The morning game at Butler was a victory for Butler 11 to 8. The afternoon game played at Centennial Field was a 7 to 2 triumph for the local clan.

The games yesterday marked the passing out of the O. & P. league for the Butler Bruin Oils. There is much regret at their leaving, as the Butler County team is flashing good baseball at the present time, but lack of patronage caused them to drop from the loop for the second-half.

"Breaks" Decide Game

The Butlerites took advantage of many "breaks" to win the morning tilt at Butler. Flynn and Steen took the mound for the locals and were hit hard by the winners. New Castle started a belated rally in the eighth and ninth innings, but were cut chort.

Carl "Molly" Meis ascended the mound for New Castle in the afternoon tilt at the local ball orchard and limited the Butlerites to eight hits, while on the other hand New Castle pounded the offering of D. Brown for fourteen safe blows and counted runs almost at will. Lawrence, Flynn and McCoy with three hits apiece led the locals with the willow. Every New Castle player with the exception of McCullough had one or more hits. "Sanky" tried desperately to connect with a safety, but was thrown out on three grounders and flied out to Johnston.

Locals Bat Timely

The feature of the tilt was the heavy hitting of the New Castle club. The fireworks, what was left of them, started in the second inning when four singles and two doubles sent four runs over the plate. New Castle tallied three more runs in the sixth chapter on three singles, a double, and triple. Outside of these two innings the locals failed to display any great batting strength.

The Butler boys staged a short-lived rally in the sixth inning that netted them two runs before the tide could be stemmed. Three singles and double turned in three markers, after this Meis settled down and allowed just one blow.

Fast Fielding Game

Both teams played a fast fielding game, there was only one error chalked up, and this went to McCullough when he booted an easy grounder from the bat of Cavalero in the seventh inning, the fozzle failed to produce any damage as the next batter hit into a double play. There were four double plays for the afternoon, this is most unusual for one game.

New Castle had a new man in left-field in the afternoon game, Graham by name, and he hails from the Eastern part of the state. This new guardian of the pasture land reminds one of "Babe" Ruth at the plate, he will tip the beam at close to 200 and takes a mean swing at the pesky horsehide. Graham was credited with one hit in four times at bat.

Meis had a wide breaking curve working to perfection and fanned five of the opposing batsmen. Brown whiffed two of the locals.

More Winners In Tennis Tourney At Playgrounds

Another tennis tournament has been played off at the Carnegie playground on South Jefferson street since last Friday.

In the senior tennis tournament, the second match was played Saturday afternoon. Team No. 3, composed of Andy Barlett and Mike DeMuccio won from team No. 4, composed of Ben DeThomas and Joe Venditto. The score was 6-1, 7-5, 6-3. Some good tennis was displayed in this game.

Next Wednesday at 1:30, Henry Faella and Patsy Farone will play Joe Farone and Frank Bongivengo. On next Saturday, July 9, Tony Mastren and Vitus Bongivengo will play Lewis Shifman and Mayerd Broida.

In the junior tournament, both an elimination and a consolation tournament are in progress next week. The consolation tournament is running in the mornings while the eliminations are running on the afternoons of Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

A quoit tournament will soon be started at the grounds.

Bessemer May Take First Half

Commission To Meet This Week And Rule On Protests

By ED. FRITZ

Commissioners of the Lawrence County Baseball League will meet this week for the purpose of unraveling technicalities that have arison during the first half, and when their rulings are handed down it is probable that Bessemer will be in first place and the Pennsylvania second and Wampum third.

Ellwood City, Independent A. A. and Croton are charged with using ineligible players and if such allegations are found true, it is probable that games in which these players have participated will be awarded to opponents and the guilty teams will be lower in their standing.

Manager Robertson of Wampum and Hub Hart of Bessemer allege Ellwood employed Racey to pitch against them. Manager Doherty declares Racey is not ineligible and when the commission meets the managers will be asked to give testimony; likewise the managers of the Indie-Ayes, who used Copple, and Croton, who injected Kroen into the line-up.

Ellwood City called off two games with Croton Monday, and unless these games are played off they will be credited to Croton. Bessemer has a game to play with Energy and other teams having unplayed contests should have them played off before Saturday or the manager refusing to play will find that their standing has been changed.

According to the probable rulings of the commission, owing to use of alleged ineligible players, which remains to be proved at the commission meeting, Bessemer will be first, Pennsylvania second, Wampum third, Coaltown fourth, Energy fifth, Ellwood sixth, Croton seventh and the Independent A. A. eighth.

Homestead Grays Here Wednesday

The Homestead Grays will be the attraction at Centennial Field on Wednesday night at 6:15 o'clock it was announced today by the directors of the New Castle O. & P. League club.

The Grays already have taken two games from the locals this year, and the tide is about due to turn the other way. The Grays have been having a fine success this season and already have won over 50 games.

It is likely that Feigert will shoot his southpaw slants over the plate for New Castle, with Britt or Williams as the pitcher for the Grays.

SORDS POINTS

Dame Fate Passed Up Men Who Licked Sharkey

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Jack Sharkey, when he enters the ring July 21 to face Jack Dempsey and mayhap in September to meet the king of heavies, may well be called the Man of Destiny.

There is a small group of men, however, who won't speak so kindly. They'll mutter under their breaths, "The lucky stiff."

They are the men who boast victories over the man who calls himself Tunney's superior.

Quinton Romero Rojas is one of them.

A scant two years ago Rojas met Sharkey and was given credit for a knockout victory over the Bostonian. Gorman and Sharkey met in 1925 and Gorman came out on the big end. They met again last year and Sharkey won but on a foul, which left the merits of the two somewhat in doubt.

Even Mr. Maloney may join the list of "lucky stiff" criers. Mr. Maloney once licked Mr. Sharkey. The fact that Boston Jack knocked him out recently rather nullifies his cry, however.

And then, in the group, are several husky souls who knocked out Maloney before Sharkey did, only to see Fate pass them by and smile on the optimistic one.

Leo Gates, the first to smack Maloney in a New York ring, if you want to give him that distinction, failed to cash in on that victory. Wolf Larsen gave Maloney one of his toughest battles two short years ago and as good as knocked him cuckoo.

King Solomon is still forced to take run-of-the-mine fights and yet he was robbed of a knockout decision over Maloney when the referee called it a foul.

None of these men ever ascended to big purses. Yet they read, sad-eyed, a few months ago of the $50,000 purses handed Maloney and Sharkey for their "championship contender" fight in New York.

And now they are forcing themselves to read again of the $100,000 Sharkey will pull down for a fight with Dempsey and the quarter of a million that he will clean up if he wins and gets a battle with the heavyweight champion.

Such is fate.

Psychology Stuff — By Feg Murray

As every one knows, Old Man Psychology has a lot to do with winning and losing sports events. Jack Sharkey's statement in a New York newspaper before his recent fight with Maloney to the effect that training in a stuffy gymnaisum would make him go like a house afire when he got in the ring the clear pure air of the Stadium, brings up the thought that perhaps the psycholigical benefits were not so great as the actual setback to his physical condition because he trained indoods. Of course, the results of the fight showed otherwise, but Sharkey might have been even better had he absorbed more "clean pure air" in his rtaining, too.

Jack likens the results to a batter coming up to the plate swinging three bats. Ty Cobb has always done this, and nobody ever batted as well over a long stretch of years as Ty Cobb, has, but others, especially ball players not so physically blessed as Cobb, might try this too, and be hurt rather than helped by the experiment. I remember Egyptian runner at the 1920 Olympics in Antwerp who tried a novel training stunt of the same order with disastrous results. He ran for miles every day, wearing an overcoat with pockets filled with rocks, but when his race, the 5,000 meters, same along, he finished last.

You've seen boxers training for a bout, shadow-boxing with light dumbbells in their hands. They get used to that, so that in a contest they can go faster without them, and don't tire as soon because they've built up muscle and stamina in their training stunt. But Old Man Psychology helps too, for the boxer's gloves feel so much lighter and better than the dumb-bells used in training.

Football players bucking against a line-bucking machine not only develop form and strength, but get a big kick out of bucking their opponents in a game because the opponents sometimes give way, whereas the machine never did. So too, the swimmer often trains, thrashing away tied to the side of the tank. When he takes off the rope and gets in a real race, how he does go! That's Psychology.

Pirates-Yanks Hold To Lead

Half-Way Mark Shows Yankees About Cinched In American League Race

CUBS THREATENING TO DISLODGE PIRATES

By LES CONKLIN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 5.—Double victories have put the Pittsburgh Pirates and Chicago Cubs well out in front in the National League race. In the American league, the New York Yankees won a double header, too, and are so far ahead of the other clubs as to have virtually clinched the pennant.

There doesn't seem to be a club in the American league at this stage that can stop the hard-hitting Yankees who are 153 points ahead of the second-place Washington Senators whom they downed twice yesterday under the outlandish scores of 12 to 1 and 21 to 1. And, incidentally, Lou Gehrig, who had been in a tie with Babe Ruth, for home run honors, walloped two more homers. He now has made 28.

Pittsburgh in the National league, by beating the Cardinals twice, 7 to 2, and 6 to 4, while the Chicago Cubs were winning from the Reds, 2 to 1 and 6 to 3, failed to gain any ground but made it apparent that for the present at any rate the race for first honors in between the Pirates and the Cubs. It was a tough double-header for the third place Cardinals to drop. Pittsburgh is now leading Chicago by only twelve points with St. Louis fifty-five back of the Cubs. Meadows of the Pirates won his eleventh victory of the year, as against two defeats.

Giants Win Two

The New York Giants, who had been going nowhere rapidly, came to life and trimmed the Brooklyn club twice, 4 to 3 and 9 to 4, thereby keeping in the running. The Giants knocked Petty out of the box in the first game and won after a struggle of eleven innings. Petty has been a nemesis to the Giants, too.

Continuing their losing streak, the Phillies dropped a double header to the Braves, 5 to 4 and 8 to 2, a fact which has no bearing on the race. Both clubs seem to be hopelessly second division clubs.

The Chicago White Sox, who have fallen back to third place, lost two more games to Cleveland, strengthening the belief that earlier in the season they had been playing over their heads. Detroit and St. Louis split a double header and so did the Red Sox and the Athletics.

Gehrig Passes Ruth In Home Run Chase

Yankee First Sacker Clouts Out Two Homers In Holiday Games

Gehrig Chalks Up 28th Circuit Clout; Babe Ruth Two Behind

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, July 5.—Ederle swam the channel, and the first thing we knew the boys were swimming back and forth as a part of their Saturday night bath and mothers were doing it for the husband and kiddies. Just a few weeks ago the lone eagle winged his way across the Atlantic to Paris. Today the gent who doesn't do it probably would be regarded as a bum, although a thoroughly dead one. Even John McGraw is talking of making the trip next year with a party of friends at least they are friends now.

The force of example is the answer and it may or may not have something to do with the fact today that Lou Gehrig has jumped the field, inlucluding George Ruth, alias Herman, in the home run sweepstakes. The young man got two yesterday; George got none. He bagged one on Saturday; George was just as good as he was yesterday, in brief and to wit, he got a total of none.

It was only a year ago that baseball men began to realize that the man they called the hardest hitter of all time had a legitimate rival, one, in fact, who hit the ball just as hard and just as far—when he hit it, which was altogether often at that particular time.

Gehrig Gets Break.

But Gehrig happened to get the break of a life time. Destiny had decided that Ruth and himself should be members of the same ball club and daily contact and observation had their almost inevitable effect. Gehrig had the force of Ruth's example before him at all times and, being the only man in the world who could figure to profit accordingly, it wasn't altogether easy for a bright young man like Gehrig to go wrong. He hasn't.

He had the God-given ability, he had the incentive. The rest merely was a matter of going up there at regular intervals and taking his cut at the ball.

However, Gehrig had at least one factor to overcome and that was a slight complex toward inferiority in the presence of the great man in the dugout. It is not altogether certain that Gehrig has rid himself of the delusion yet. Ruth draws $70,000 a season, Gehrig $8,000, and there is nothing quite so inferior as inferior money. Probably this pretender to home run royalty thinks it is all a regrettable mistake, even now.

He is quiet and subdued where Ruth is noisy, garrulous and given to a bit of natural swank, if you will pardon my British. Gehrig really dislikes to call attention to himself, Ruth demands it as his due.

Salaries Differ.

Of course, there will be a slight readjustment of the salary deficit if Gehrig wins this two-man race but, even in that extremity, Ruth will continue to be Ruth. Meantime, the Yankees, so far in front of the American league pack that no one will overtake them with a night letter, are getting their break in the business office. The buttonhole makers might remain away in droves from a club that is 12½ games ahead on the fifth of July but the strictly private vendetta between George and Gehrig has the local turnstiles all worn out.

The spectacle of George trying, without success at this time, to keep pace with a gent who thought he was fortunate to stick with the payroll two years ago is one the customers simply refused to muff.

They will be in there to death and most of them hope it will be Ruth's, just for the sake of starting something. At that, they may be thinking a trifle ahead of the situation, for George is the kind of hombre who starts hitting and forgets to stop.

The situation this time, however, has a different angle. In other years, the boy friend's efforts consisted of a strictly impersonal issue between himself and the record. Except in one or two seasons when suspensions beat him to it, George had no real rival to say him nay. Certainly, it never came to a question of overtaking a man with whom he had played an almost equal number of games.

The point, therefore, revolves around the question of whether Ruth has it in him to come from behind under pressure. Was or is he a front runner who needs blinders to keep him ignorant and, therefore blissful, concerning the whereabouts of the rest of the field? Time will answer that one.

Locals Drop Game In Valley Saturday Afternoon; Hilty Pitches Fine Game

The Beaver Falls Elks cinched the O. & P. League pennant Saturday afternoon, by downing New Castle 3 to 0, in a fast game. The game was a pitchers' battle between Meis and Hilty.

The Elks scored their entire quota of runs in the first two innings, and after that Meis held the league champions safe.

County League Games Saturday

Quite a similarity in scores existed in the Lawrence county league Saturday afternoon games. There were three games that ended with a score of 9 to 8. Ellwood City upset the quartet by toppling the Indies 17 to 10.

The P. R. R. succeeded in sticking a 9 to 8 setback on the Coaltown boys at the E. & A. grounds Saturday afternoon. Hutnick and Valley divided pitching duties for the railroaders. Coaltown used Rodenbaugh in the role of heaver. The game was decided in the 14th inning after two were out.

It was Picarro's timely single that decided the game in favor of the P. R. R.

Croton upset the dope in the league circles by toppling the strong Bessemer team 9 to 8 in a game played at the Croton field. Frampton's relief pitching and timely swatting gave the Crotonites their victory.

Wampum knocked the Energites for a 9 to 8 setback at Wampum on Saturday. Wampum used Mundo and McIntyre on the mound. Energy used S. Houk and Summers.

It is charity to help a man up, but not to prop him. While there's a prop, he never will learn to stand alone.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN

The Mike McTigue-Jack Delaney scrap may be postponed indefinitely. Paul Berlenbach, from whom Delaney wrested the light-heavyweight crown he now wears, returned the other night with much eclat—and drew little attention.

Paolino, Spanish Basque, who was touted to become a second Firpo, has slipped out of the limelight. Jimmy Maloney is fighting second raters—at second rate prices.

All of which would indicate that nothing much matters in fistiana these days outside the possible outcome of two fights, the coming affair between Dempsey and Sharkey and the meeting of the victor and Gene Tunney.

* * *

Jack Dempsey's condition and the possibility of his regaining something approaching his old form for his battle with Jack Sharkey are topics for much discussion.

There is one phase, however, of this matter, which can be accepted now. That is that Dempsey will train seriously for his battle with Sharkey.

Many fans feel that it is purely a business matter with Dempsey, that he has not considered his chances of success, but merely seeks the $250,000 he will get for entering the ring.

He is after the quarter million, no doubt.

But he is also well aware that, were victory to come with this return to the ring, he would be in a position to receive $400,000 or $500,000 for a return bout with Tunney.

What motive could he have then for shirking his training?

None.

He may be but a hollow shell when he enters the ring against Sharkey. But having the ordinary human desire to acquire worldly goods, he will try to carry into the arena with him all the old skill, stamina, speed and power that he can muster.

* * *

Jack Sharkey, confident challenger for Gene Tunney's title, is to be commended, in a way, for going through with a bout with Dempsey and thereby risking a chance at Tunney—and the bigger purse that would go with such a match.

There is no doubt but what Tex Rickard had Sharkey's word that the latter would meet Dempsey or any other man selected before meeting Tunney, if so asked. No doubt Sharkey was glad to concur in such a request to get the "semi-final" with Maloney. At the same time he and his manager might have tried to "hedge" after the Maloney victory.

Personally we like the wide open way Jack Sharkey goes into the business of fighting.

Mr. Sharkey will never go down from a blow from behind. He likes to face the music.

New Castle Wins From Erie 3 To 1

The New Castle O. & P. League team gained a 3 to 1 decision over the Erie Sailors at Erie on Sunday afternoon.

Mark Jamieson occupied the mound for the locals and allowed the Erie team but four hits. Sykes opposed Jamieson on the hill and was nicked for eight safe blows.

"Lefty" Feigert crashed out a home run inside the ball orchard to count two runs for New Castle and to win the game. McCullough scored ahead of Feigert.

Bessemer-Indies Divide Twin Bill

Independents Take Morning Game, 6 To 2; Afternoon Tilt Goes To Bessemer

Bessemer and the Independents divided a twin bill on the Fourth of July, the Indies winning the morning game by a score of 6 to 2 and the Bessemerites swamping their opponents 21 to 2 in the afternoon tilt.

Turco pitched a fine game for the winners in the morning tilt and essayed a comeback in the afternoon game but failed to stop the mad rush of the runnersup. The morning game went to the Indies through their ability to solve the delivery of Hoffmeister. "Bill" Augustine and Walter "Hub" Hart featured the morning game with home run drives.

Black, Diffley and Hoffmeister led the attack on Marino and Turco in the afternoon game, with 11 hits between them. Augustine was the best hitter for the Indies in the afternoon game with a single, double and triple.

Miller pitched a fine game for Bessemer in the afternoon, allowing the Indies but six hits and keeping them scattered.

Coaltown-Energy Divide Two Games

Energy Takes Morning Contest 13 To 7, Coaltown Wins In Afternoon 16-1

Energy and Coaltown divided their double-header played on the Fourth of July. Energy annexed the morning contest by a score of 13 to 7. Coaltown won the afternoon game by a score of 16 to 1.

S. Houk took the mound for the Energy boys in the morning game and limited the Coaltown players to 11 hits. Energy found Dean and Mayberry for 18 hits. Energy bunched their hits in the third inning to tally six runs.

The Coaltown team regained their batting eye in the afternoon tilt and clouted out 21 safe hits for a total of 16 runs. Rodenbaugh, on the hill for the Coaltown team, was invincible, and allowed but six hits.

Coaltown scored in every inning. The game was stopped in the fifth chapter after the Coaltown boys had amassed such a tremendous lead. Panas featured the game with a home run. Chapman had four hits for Coaltown. Reeder, Murphy and Mayberry had three hits apiece.

Looking Back

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

Heinie Groh, famous for his bottle bat and McGraw's poor judgment in letting him go as a youngster, is slated to come back to the majors possibly in a managerial role. He has been with the Rochester club.

Heinie Kroh, while a dangerous hitter, wasn't known as a slugger. Yet in 1917 and 1918 he led the National league in two base hits. In the world's series of 1922 he set a batting average of .474.

Pirates Take Double-Header

Traynor And Barnhart Make Second Victory Possible

PITTSBURGH, July 5.—The Pirates had a good Fourth of July, banging the St. Louis Cardinals for two victories, 7 to 2 in the morning and 6 to 4 in the afternoon. Meadows and Hill were the winning pitchers and the losing hurlers were Alexander and Rhem. The games were witnessed by 56,000 fans.

Captain Pie Traynor made the second possible with a diving stop in the eighth. The score was tied and the Cards had two runners on the sacks when Lester Bell slammed what would have been a double to left. Pie got the ball and he made a beautiful throw to Harris. Pooch Barnhart in the next inning banged out a double that scored the winning run for the Pirates.

Clifton Flats Tops West Pittsburg In Twin Attraction

Coates Turns In Iron-Man Stunt As Clifton Flats Takes Two Games

The Clifton Flats team annexed a double-header from the West Pittsburg team of the Twilight league on the Fourth of July. The morning game went to Clifton Flats 19 to 4 and the afternoon tilt resulted in a 6 to 5 victory for the Flats. Coates turned in an iron-man stunt and pitched the Flats team to two victories.

The morning game was a slugfest, with a grand total of 37 hits for the two teams. Braykovich and Beres had homers for the visitors but even these failed to win for West Pittsburg. The Flats team hit the ball hard in the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh innings.

The afternoon game was a pitchers' battle between Passilinque and Coates with the latter having the best of the argument. Coates held the West Pittsburg boys to seven hits and fanned six. The Flats team turned in their victory by timely swatting with Smiley and E. Hiler leading the attack.

Jack Dempsey Will Train In Private

By GEORGE BARRY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SARATOGA, N. Y., July 5.—The unhappiest man in the wide, wide world today is Tom Luther, of this Purlieu.

And it is all because Leo Pernicious Flynn has decided that Jack Dempsey shall strut no more of his stuff in public and that all workouts henceforth shall be exceedingly private.

All of which means that Luther, who owns the open air tent where Dempsey weaves and lobbs and slings punches hither and yon, will lose something in the neighborhood of $3,000 to $4,000 in prospective profits. For Luther was to get a "cut" in 50 per cent of all money taken in at the gate.

"If Dempsey had worked publicly on Saturday, Sunday and Monday," wailed Luther to Flynn, "it would have meant a profit for me of at least $1500."

Private Workouts.

"Listen, you," bespake Flynn in rebuttal, "this fellow Dempsey isn't training with the idea of making money for you. He's training to beat Sharkey so he can get a crack at Tunney and knock him loose from his bean. And I've figured out that the best way to get results is private works from now on. So that will mean just that and stop weeping."

No one around the Dempsey camp seems to be very happy over the condition or the progress of the ex-champion—except Flynn. All of which may be explained by the fact that Dempsey is operating in a way entirely new for him; conditioning himself under a scheme which Flynn has outlined and which Flynn—but no one else—thinks will be a colossal success.

Flynn is forcing Dempsey to box flat footed. That's something Dempsey never did in his life. He's demanding that Dempsey work for speed and little else. He has insisted that Dempsey shorten his punches to such an extent that Dempsey now is doing little other than jolting. There's no power in the socks unleashed because Flynn is requiring him to hurl them in such a way that the ex-champ cannot get any leverage.

And Dempsey, boxing flat footed, shows a tendency to fall forward, off balance, whenever he misses a punch, whereas in the other days by boxing on his toes, he was always in position to smite with the other paw if he missed with his first shot.

Twilight Umpires For Week Assigned

Commissioner Louis "Pick" Glitch of the Twilight League today announced the umpire selections for the present week as follows:

Tuesday, July 5.

Edenburg at Ryantown, Diana and Dart.

South Hills at West Pittsburg, Price and Adams.

Hillsville at Lawrence Indies, Nolte and Baker.

Radiator Stars at Troop B., Hudson and Dominic.

Thursday, July 7.

Lawrence Indies at South Hills, Nolte and Fahey.

West Pittsburg at Hillsville, Price and Adams.

Ryantown at Radiator Stars, Diana and Baker.

Troop B., at Edenburg, Hudson and Dominic.

P.A. says "Come again!" in every puff

THERE'S a warm invitation in every cool puff on a pipe packed with P.A., if you get what I mean. You sort of look forward to each intake, the way you watch the mails for a letter from your best girl. Good old Prince Albert! Never wears out its welcome.

Why, the instant you open the tidy red tin and get a whiff of that wonderful P.A. fragrance, your mouth waters for a taste of such tobacco. Did I say "fragrant"? I hope to tell you! The flowers that bloom in the spring have nothing on Prince Albert.

And when you load-up the old jimmy-pipe and open the drafts—say, Mister! Cool as the blast of a traffic-cop's whistle. Sweet as his words: "I didn't mean you." Mild as the Gulf Stream, yet with that full, rich tobacco body that satisfies to the very limit.

I'm getting mine with a pipe and P.A. every day. I want you to get yours. All you have to do is step around the corner and tell the man-behind-the-counter you want a tin of Prince Albert. He hears that hundreds of times a day from men like yourself. Try P.A.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

The Surrender of Vicksburg.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

AT 10 A. M. ON JULY 3, 1863, WHITE FLAGS APPEARED ON THE RAMPARTS OF VICKSBURG AND GEN. BOWEN APPROACHED THE UNION LINES BEARING A MESSAGE FROM PEMBERTON TO GRANT IN WHICH AN ARMISTICE WAS PROPOSED, WITH A VIEW TO ARRANGING TERMS FOR THE CAPITULATION OF THE CITY.

THAT AFTERNOON, GRANT AND PEMBERTON MET BETWEEN THE OPPOSING LINES, AND BEGAN NEGOTIATIONS WHICH RESULTED IN THE LATTER AGREEING TO SURRENDER VICKSBURG THE FOLLOWING DAY. THOUGH NEITHER WAS AWARE OF IT, AT THAT MOMENT MEADE'S ARMY, FAR AWAY AT GETTYSBURG, WAS REPELLING THE LAST GALLANT CHARGE OF LEE'S MEN.

AT THE APPOINTED HOUR ON JULY 4TH, THE GARRISON OF VICKSBURG STACKED THEIR ARMS IN FRONT OF THEIR EARTHWORKS, AND THE UNION ARMY, LED BY GEN. LOGAN'S DIVISION, ENTERED THE CITY AND TOOK POSSESSION.

HEARTY CHEERS WERE GIVEN BY THE FEDERALS FOR THE "VALIANT DEFENDERS OF VICKSBURG", AND AS SOON AS THE FORMALITIES WERE ENDED, THE SOLDIERS OF BOTH ARMIES BEGAN FRATERNIZING AND SWAPPING YARNS OVER THE INCIDENTS OF THE LONG SIEGE.
TOMORROW—THE MISSISSIPPI RESTORED TO THE UNION.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 5.—Both industrial and railroad stocks displayed a firm tone in a quiet and featureless market in the forenoon trading today. The forward move in Nickel Plate and the Southwestern-merger rails initiated on Saturday was carried farther, while the high priced industrial shares with pool backing made moderate progress in the direction of higher values.

A number of prominent stocks rose to new high price records in fairly active trading in this period, the list including American Can, General Electric and Union Carbide. Kansas City Southern and Nickel Plate advanced about a point each, in the leadership of the rails, while Hudson and General Motors displayed a strong tone while leading the motor shares upward.

No Fire Alarms Here On Fourth

New Castle passed a safe and sane Fourth of July season and without a fire alarm or serious accident directly attributable to the use of fireworks.

The fact that the fire department was not called upon to respond to an alarm of any kind in the four day period beginning Saturday and ending today, indicates the care with which the people celebrated the Fourth.

At the hospitals, there was not an accident case due to the use of fireworks. While there may have been a number of instances in which the services of a physician were required because of burns, etc., none of a serious character were reported.

Attempt Fails To Blow Rail Safe

Combination Blown Off Door At West Pittsburg Railroad Station

Safe-crackers appeared in Lawrence county for the second time within a month but failed to obtain any loot when they attempted to get into the safe at the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad station, West Pittsburg.

The combination was blown off the door, according to police authorities. The yeggs were evidently frightened away before they could fire another charge. It is said that yeggs attempted to burglarize a safe at Wampum several weeks ago.

Many Delegates At C. E. Convention In Cleveland, O.

About 64 delegates representing the Christian Endeavor societies of a number of churches of Lawrence county and this city left Saturday to attend the annual International Christian Endeavor convention which opened Saturday in the Cleveland auditorium and will continue until July 7.

The Westfield society had the greatest number of delegates, 27 having registered.

America Gets Third Title At Wimbledon Nets

(International News Service)

WIMBLEDON, England, July 5.—America fell heir to its third Wimbledon title today when the great California pair of Helen Wills, the singles champion, and Elizabeth Ryan rushed through Mrs. Peacock and Miss E. L. Heine to a straight set victory in the final round. The scores were 6-3, 6-2.

Sham Battle Is Staged On Fourth By Company B

Several hundred people witnessed the sham battle staged Monday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock by members of Company B, 125th Engineers on the road between Walmo and Coaltown. Approximately thirty-five members of the company participated in the event. The battle was greatly enjoyed by the large throng of people gathered to witness it.

Attorney Muse Addresses Lions

Attorney George W. Muse gave an address of a patriotic nature to the members of the Lions Club at their noon-day meeting on Tuesday, July 5, at the Elks Club. Mr. Muse explained the causes of the Declaration of Independence and the opposition it met, and how the various states voted on its progress through the Continental Congress. His address was one of facts and not oratory, and he paid the Lions a compliment, he claimed, by digging up facts and having notes for his speech.

Patriotic songs were sung by the club, led by Lion Paul Welsh.

Cigars were furnished by Dr. T. N. Shaffer on the arrival of a daughter at his home.

Lions M. V. Hyde and Arthur J. Rees were named as a committee on the Community Chest for the coming year.

Fisher Grants Slayer Respite

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 5.—Pending the findings of alienists on the sanity of Raymond Winter, Allegheny county murderer, Gov. John S. Fisher today issued a respite which fixed Winter's execution date for September 26. The state board of pardons does not meet during July and August.

At the session of the board last week District Attorney Samuel Gardner of Allegheny county agreed with Winter's counsel that there is some doubt of Winter's sanity and agreed to the appointment of an alienist to examine the man.

Investigate Fire At Lancaster, Pa.

(International News Service)

LANCASTER, Pa., July 5.—Authorities today began an investigation of a fire which swept the Rose Brothers Company plant here yesterday, in which six firemen were overcome by pyralin fumes before they could be carried to safety by comrades.

The fire swept all four stories of the plant, doing damage which it was estimated would run well over $100,000.

HOME OF FIELD, CHILDREN'S POET, BECOMES SHRINE

Eugene Field's home in Denver, Colo., and sketches of some of the best known characters in his poems, Little Boy Blue, the Little Tin Soldier and the Little Toy Dog.

By THOMAS D. MACK
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

DENVER, Colo., July 5.—Across from the mint in Denver, sitting back from the street on a green terrace, is the little frame cottage Eugene Field, famed for his children's poems, called home during the two years he lived here.

Field came to Denver when he was 31, and from 1881 to 1883 was managing editor of the old Denver Tribune.

Through the generosity of Mrs. J. J. Brown, philanthropist and society woman, the house has become a permanent memorial to the poet. Its recent dedication took on the proportions of a civic celebration.

Although Field resided here a brief two years, they were two years hilariously passed and still are the subject of gustful discussion.

By the world at large Field is acclaimed for his poetic genius, but by old timers in Denver he is remembered principally as a genius for mischief, a man whose irrepressible humor kept the town convulsed with laughter, the victims of his hoaxes with rage.

The poet of the children Field is called. This is easy to understand. Childish glee was intrinsically a part of him; exuberance, the high spirit of youth, frothed and gurgled wherever Eugene Field held sway.

Typical Field Joke.

That Field was everything that the common conception of the regulation bard is not was especially proved at the time Oscar Wilde paid a visit to Denver during his American tour. Field learned that Wilde was delayed a day in his itinerary, the reception committee being in ignorance of this fact. Donning a blonde wig, attiring himself in outlandish garments, he boarded the train Wilde was supposed to arrive on at a stop above Denver, and with a sunflower in his buttonhole and a lily in his hand, he was recevied in state and driven through the streets in an open carriage, gaped at on all sides by admiring throngs.

The paper he edited was an instrument incessantly used in the exploitation of his incorrigible wit. Perhaps the height of his audacity was reached in a professed interview with Brigham Young's alleged 12 wives, when the Mormon leader and his wife registered at a local hotel.

Children Aid.

Through a movement inaugurated by Mrs. Brown, and sponsored by Governor William H. Adams, the memory of Field's life in Denver is to be perpetuated by Colorado school children. Their aid is being sought in the maintenance of the shrine. The 30,000 children attending schools in the state are asked to contribute their pennies to the establishment of a fund giving them an opportunity to manifest their appreciation for one whose gifts have done so much to bring joy into their lives.

So far as possible the house and its furnishings have been restored to a condition similar to the time of Field's occupancy of it.

Coast Guardsman Performs Heroic Deed In Capture

Single Handed Coast Guard Ensign Boards Rum Runner Captures Crew And Ship

(International News Service)

NEW YORK July , 5.—Ensign Charles L. Duke is in line today for the highest honors the Coast Guard Service can confer as the result of his daring act in leaping aboard a moving rum runner in the upper bay. Seizing her liquor cargo, valued at $500,000, and by sheer bluff and resourcefulness cowing and arresting her crew of 22 Nova Scotia fishermen.

The young ensign was patrolling the harbor when he saw the vessel creeping along the Bay Ridge shore. He called to the captain to heave to. Failing to get any response the young officer determined to board the vessel single handed.

Duke knocked out one seaman and arrested the captain, putting the whole crew below decks. There he held them at bay until his own men brought help from the State of Liberty. He was on duty 26 hours.

Many Minor Auto Mishaps Reported

At least a score of minor automobile accidents were reported to the police over the Fourth of July week end. In a few instances persons were hit and slightly injured.

Paul Smith of 2019 Pennsylvania avenue, reported that he was driving west on Weaver street, when a boy named Jack Fullwood, aged 7, of Weaver street, ran out of an alley onto Weaver street in front of his machine and was knocked down. He was not seriously injured.

Norman E. Allen of Pulaski, reported that he was driving north on Moravia street Saturday when a small girl ran out from the curb into his machine. She was knocked down but got up and ran away.

William Rider of R. D. No. 4, reported Saturday that he was going east on Washington street, when his machine struck a small colored girl named Lillian Jobes. She was not injured.

AUTOMOBILES ARE REPORTED STOLEN

J. R. Van, 1540 Colonial avenue, Warren, O., reported Monday that his Ford coupe, Ohio license A-93-923 had been stolen from the vicinity of the Dome theatre. It was still missing today according to the records of the police station.

W. O. Miller of the Shenango Motor company, reported Saturday that a Ford touring car had been stolen from Shenango street. It was later reported that some kids had stolen it for a joy ride had returned it to the vicinity of the place from which it was taken.

Bomb Shatters Many Windows

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 5.—Windows for a block around were shattered today when a bomb was exploded in front of the shoe repair shop of J. S. Viola in Stowe township, near here.

Large plate glass windows in a barber shop and pool room adjoining the shoe shop were blown out, endangering the lives of many persons. Families occupying the second floor of the building were shaken.

The bombers identity remained unestablished as no witnesses could be found. Property damage was estimated at $2000.

City Employees Receive About $25,000 Monthly

Approximately $25,000 a month is paid as salary to city employes, according to a compilation of statistics at the office of City Controller Alvah Porter. The police department receives the largest monthly amount, fire department second and department of streets, third highest.

Approximately $6,600 is paid monthly to policemen, $5,402 to firemen and the street department employes carry away from the pay-window, $3,784. The department of garbage employes receive about $2,436 a month.

Figuring $25,000, to the month the approximately annual salary of the city of New Castle employes is $300,000.

For the first half of June the following amounts, minus cents, were paid:

Public affair repartment clerks, $225; police, $3330; accounts and finance clerks, $413; firemen, $2901; health department attaches, 440; garbage department employes, $1218 and electrician, $137.

The street department men drew $1892 engineering department attaches $857; parks and playgrounds, $587 and employes making repairs, $155.

The city solicitor collected $150, mayor $104 and four councilmen, a total of about $252, the city attorney, R. M. White, being the highest salaried man on the city payroll.

Creighton Man Is Hero As Home Burns, Rescues Six People

(International News Service)

CREIGHTON, Pa., July 5.—A father's bravery today saved the lives of his four children, his mother and his wife, when fire of undetermined origin destroyed the grocery store of Fred Stull here, over which he lived.

Stull carried his four children across a porch roof to an adjoining one-story structure when a blazing stairway cut off their escape. He returned and rescued his wife and his mother.

Damage was estimated at $21,000.

Suggests Mumy Golf Course And Tennis Courts

Citizen Suggests Old Country Club Property Be Used For Purpose

Since the query of the News a few days ago, concerning tennis courts in the city, a suggestion has been made that New Castle should have municipal tennis courts and golf links, and the place suggested is the old Country club grounds in the Croton district.

The tennis courts used by the country club are still there, one of them being kept up by the Croton M. E. church and the other one could be used, and an additional one installed.

Holes number one, two, three and nine, are untouched on the old golf course, number four could be used, and if necessary, four other holes could be laid out and a nine hole golf course put in shape in comparatively short time.

A municipal golf course and tennis courts has been suggested here at various times during the past ten years. The cost would not be prohibitive and if run by the city, enough greens and court fees could probably be collected to pay the major part of the overhead cost.

The owners of the country club plot have indicated their willingness to co-operate with the city authorities if such a plan is given any attention by the city council.

Four Deaths Is Westmoreland Toll

(International News Service)

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 5.—Four known dead and nine injured was Westmoreland county's Fourth of July toll. Six fires in Greensburg over the week-end added to the property loss which will run into thousands of dollars.

Mrs. Jennie Phillippi, 71, of Latrobe, was killed in an auto accident; August Niminski, 56, New Madison, was killed by a train, and Jacob Dick, 18, Tunnelton, and Martin Myatt, 20 were drowned while swimming.

Charles Wagner, 20, of Baggaley, was injured in a parachute leap. The others were injured by fireworks and automobiles.

Another Little Boy Who Won't Play Unless He Can Play What He Wants To Capture Follows Exciting Chase On Washington Street Saturday Night

Motorists on Washington street were treated to a rather exciting capture of an alleged bootlegger on Saturday night when George Bucha of Beaver Falls was arrested with eight quarts of liquor in his car. With him was a woman giving her name as Mabel Wayman.

According to County Detective William G. Fleming, the county and state authorities have been looking for Bucha for some time. It is alleged that he has been running liquor into New Castle for some time, but each time word was received of him he had just finished his deliveries.

Saturday night he was seen on the street by State Patrolman Brush. Hopping into a small roadster, Brush started down Washington street, but the jam of traffic held him up. He called Motorcycle Officer Crisswell and told him to head off a Nash roadster which was ahead in the line.

Crisswell stepped on the gas and started down the street in a hurry, dodging in and out of traffic. At Mill and Washington street the line stopped, and in order to get through Crisswell had to edge into the safety zone between a street car and the safety chains.

He negotiated the narrow clearance, and stopping the Nash, held Bucha until Brush got to the corner. The man took his arrest stoically, according to Fleming, and merely smiled when the liquor was found. Both Bucha and the woman were taken to the county jail until bail could be secured.

Farrell Celebrates Anniversary Event

Borough Is Observing 25th Anniversary Of Incorporation This Week

FARRELL, Pa., July 5.—With Old Sol beaming down on the assemblage, Farrell's silver jubilee, in celebration of the 25th anniversary of the borough's birth, was opened here Monday with the putting off of 25 aerial bombs at daybreak, one bomb for each year.

More than 30,000 people crowded the different streets of the borough for the next feature of the day's events, the mammoth civic parade held at 10 o'clock. The parade, the most colorful and brilliant procession ever witnessed here, had approximately 5,000 persons in the line of march, with a score or more of gorgeous floats, representing an expenditure of several thousand dollars.

The parade formed at Haywood and Fruit, marched north on Fruit to Union, east on Union to Hamilton, north on Hamilton to Idaho, west on Idaho to Broadway, south on Broadway to Haywood and east on Haywood to the starting point, where it was disbanded.

All along the line of march cheering hundreds stood on the sidewalks and greeted the marchers as they passed. Farrell's officials were in the line of march, while the places of honor on the reviewing stand went to the visiting officials of Sharon, Sharpsville, Wheatland and West Middlesex.

Other features of the day included free acts at 5 o'clock and an exhibition drill by 100 Rumanian girls under the direction of Mrs. John Scalu at 6 p. m. At 11 p. m. the free acts were again featured, followed by the putting off of a brilliant display of fireworks at 11:30 p. m.

The celebration will continue thruout the week, the features for today being the boy and dog parade at 2:30 p. m. and the first presentation of the Pageant of Progress, with more than 400 persons in the cast, at 9 o'clock in the evening.

Mother Of Lincoln Beachey Takes First Ride In Airplane

Mrs. Amy Beachy, 76, the silver-haired mother of Lincoln Beachey, probably the first aviator ever seen by many people of New Castle took her first airplane ride last week when she was taken for a ride over Detroit, Michigan.

Lincoln Beachey, whom many will remember to have made several exhibition flights at the old race track near the Seventh ward years ago, and who was the first aviator to loop the loop, lost his life in a crash in San Francisco bay, May 15, 1915.

"I wasn't a bit nervous," said this aged mother of the famous daredevil of the air. "I had wanted to fly for 20 years. I wish I could go back to San Francisco in an airplane. It will take me four days by train."

COCK FIGHT RAID NEAR PITTSBURGH

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 5.—Eight men were at liberty under $15 forfeit bonds each today and 17 game birds were on Squire A. C. Lorch's farm following a raid yesterday on a cock fight near here. Eight dead birds were found in the arena. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Harry Geyler, Glenshaw, said to have been the promoter of the fights.

WOMEN CAN NOW DO MORE

Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Keeps Them Well

Fifty years ago there were few occupations for women. Some taught school, some did housework, some found work to do at home and a few took up nursing.

Today there are very few occupations not open to women. Today they work in great factories with hundreds of other women and girls. There are also women architects, lawyers, dentists, executives, and legislators. But all too often a woman wins her economic independence at the cost of her health.

Mrs. Elizabeth Chamberlain who works in the Unionall factory making overalls writes that she got "wonderful results" from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mrs. Chamberlain lives at 500 Monmouth St., Trenton, N. J. She recommends the Vegetable Compound to her friends in the factory and will gladly answer any letters she gets from women asking about it.

John Elder, Jr., First In County To Get Voucher

New Castle Man Has 28 Acres Of Corn Cleaned Up Before Final Inspection

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 5.—Farmers in three additional counties in the Pennsylvania corn borer clean-up area have been qualified for federal payment of extra labor fees, H. N. Bartley, federal entomologist in charge of the corn borer control in Pennsylvania and New York, stated today.

Lawrence county's first man to have his voucher forwarded to Washington was John Elder Jr., New Castle. He cleaned up 28 acres of corn fields before the final inspection. In Beaver county James S. McDonald, Hookstown, was the first. Walter D. Ward, Warren, with eight acres cleaned, was the first to qualify for the extra labor fee in Warren county.

In the other five counties the first vouchers were drawn in favor of W. A. Warnshuis, Edinboro, Erie county; Free Lynn, Espyville, Crawford county; Clinton R. Hindman, Prospect, Butler county; Cassius A. Canon, Cochranton, Mercer county, and Fred M. Schruers, Cranberry, Venango county. Checks are being mailed from Washington as rapidly as possible following receipt of the vouchers to all farmers in the area who made a satisfactory voluntary clean-up prior to final inspection.

WEDDING ON BRIDGE MARKS DEDICATION OF NEW STRUCTURE

BELLAIRE, O., July 5.—Symbolizing a union of Ohio and West Virginia, a marriage ceremony was performed in the center of the new Benwood-Bellaire bridge at noon Monday as one of the features of the dedication of the structure.

Miss Roberta Pearl Thomas, a Wheeling girl, became the bride of Harry Edward Stricklin of Bellaire. Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Howell of Wheeling were attendants, and Rev. W. H. Fields of the First Christian church of Wheeling, officiated.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS
BY MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINTS

Steak a la king, as given below, is almost as appetizing as chicken a la king and less expensive and less work. With baked potatoes and a substantial salad the dish makes a hearty meal, which is given the finishing touch by the light strawberry dessert. Why not serve graham crackers with the strawberries? I wonder they are not more used as an accompaniment for milk puddings and fruit desserts.

Steak a la King Baked Potatoes
Head Lettuce with Fresh Dressing
Strawberry Marshmallow Cup
Coffee

TODAY'S RECIPES

Steak a la King—Take one sirloin steak (cut medium trim off all fat, cut in pieces three inches square or as large as you like servings. Brown steak in butter on both sides, season to taste. When steak is brown, add one-half pound of fresh mushrooms, one green pepper, chopped; one carrot, chopped; one small onion minced finely, one can of tomatoes. Let simmer one hour and fifteen minutes.

Strawberry Marshmallow Cup — Wash, hull and quarter strawberries; sweeten to taste, cut marshmallows into quarters, allowing three for each serving. Combine the two and serve in sherbet cups. Prepare one hour before serving.

SUGGESTIONS

Painted Rug.

A housewife writes: "Having a fibre rug which had lost all its brightness, I decided to paint it. Two coats of apple green floor paint applied to the rug which had been scrubbed and thoroughly dried, formed the background for a stenciled border done in pale yellow. A coat of varnish over all made it possible to wash the rug as you would wash a floor."

Accurate Measurements

Medicine should never be measured in spoons, as they vary so much in size. Every medicine closet should be equipped with a small marked glass made especially for this purpose.

Wash Them First

Figs and dates should always be thoroughly cleansed before using. Placing them in colander and pouring boiling water over them will remove the germs and dirt and do no harm to the dates.

A Little Over

When buying carpet for stairs it is wise to buy one yard more than is actually needed. Then when the carpet shows signs of wear it can be pieced so that the worn part will come below each step and the good part on top.
